Candidate for Delegate to the Constitutional Convention From District 87

To the Voters of the Eighty-seventh Constitutional Delegate District:

Since I have entered the race for delegate to the constitutional convention, I consider it my bounden duty to proclaim where I stand in support of principles vital in importance to the people of this country at this time.

I believe our constitution should deal with fundamental principles of government; with ordinances and provisions of a permanent nature, those essential to life and property. To these, most conscientious and intelligent attention must be given.

The constitution will include a Bill of Rights, in which there should be written those political truths already worked out in the progressive history of representative government. These fundamental principles and proven political truths should be planted so deeply and intelligently into the foundation of our state's government that the absolute guarantee is given to the citizen, that every right and opportunity necessary to his peace, prosperity and happiness shall irrevocably be his for all time.

In constructing a constitution the people should differentiate between state organic law or constitutional requirements and statutory enactments.

The people will remember that state legislatures may pass any law that the federal constitution or its own state constitution does not prohibit. And that the national congress may only pass such laws as it is permitted to pass by the federal constitution. There should not be too much included in the constitution, but it must, most positively, be seen to that it does not lack anything or contain anything, so that in the coming legislatures of the state it will ever occur, that the people's desires will be frustrated by the dictum: "Unconstitutional."

But my fellow citizens, in this day of Commercialism, when predatory wealth has such a glutinous hand at the throats of the people, and organized greed is so firmly entrenched, and the gates of wicked opportunity are opened so wide to the grafters, there are several questions of transcendent importance that must not wait for possibly corrupt legislatures to pass upon.

I respectfully submit to you my views on some of these vital questions, and, in the event you sustain them by sending me to the constitutional convention, I shall struggle with all the strength of my being, to secure their enactment into an intelligent and effective law.

INITIATIVE AND REFERENDUM.

That government which stays closest to the people is the most ideal and less apt to get beyond control. Therefore the initiative and referendum is the best safeguard against the government getting beyond the reach of the people. I would advocate these principles because they give to the people the right to initiate, accept or reject legislation. These principles would serve as a death blow to the lobbyist's corrupting influence, which has proved such a menace to equitable and just legislation.

FREE SCHOOLS

I need not emphasize the many virtues of a free school system. The citizenship of tomorrow depends upon the educational advantages of today. I would strive with all the ardor of my being, to have the constitution guarantee to every child of the state, howsoever poor, the very best school advantages. To that end I would favor establishing and maintaining, for as long a period as possible, in each year, a free school system. The state should manufacture and furnish free, or at cost, uniform school books, by this means breaking the shackles of the text book trust.

SCHOOL FUND.

Some estimate that Oklahoma will own practically fifty million dollars for school purposes. This should be zealously guarded. If handled judiciously it will guarantee a perpetual school fund. I would favor a bonded school-land commission, elected by the people, to see that this fund is not in any way misappropriated. I would favor investing the five million dollars given to the state for a permanent school fund in the very best county, state, municipal and school district bonds, provided same cannot be invested in coal lands as hereinbelow advocated. I would also advocate the retention of all school lands now owned by the state; and that the revenues from these lands, together with the interest derived from the above mentioned five million dollars shall constitute the available school funds of the state.

COAL LANDS.

In this connection I would advocate, above all, the appointment of a commission to negotiate with the Indian tribes and federal government for the coal lands, exclusively for school purposes. This commission to be empowered to appropriate the five million dollar school fund, or any part thereof, in obtaining said coal lands. This would be an ideal investment; because, first, it would prevent the railroads from owning and operating said mines and controlling the price of coal (cheap fuel inevitably resulting). Second, the revenues derived from said lands would vastly enrich the state school fund.

In the event the state should obtain possession of the coal lands, I would favor dealing separately with the surface, dividing same into homesteads and town lots and offering same for sale, giving parties residing thereon the preference right of purchase.

CORPORATIONS AND TRUSTS.

The constitution should contain an iron clad anti-trust provision. There should be a corporation commission, elected by the people, such commission to be empowered to exercise all necessary supervision of corporations, including railroads; to see that corporation charters are obeyed to the letter; that rebates and discriminations do not occur without just punishment; to compel, by the aid of the courts, strict obedience of the laws enacted for the protection of patrons, employees and honest competition. I would favor a clause which shall forever put a check to immunity pleas of individual members of law-breaking corporations.

I would favor not only fining the abstract corporation, for violation of the anti-trust law, but the imprisonment of promoters of all criminal corporations.

The constitution should forbid any railroad or other corporation to do more than acquire an easement on any land, and then only on such land as is necessary to furnish right of way, station grounds, or for shops or for some other necessary department of the corporation. And should the corporation abandon its legitimate business, or have its charter forfeited, then the use and occupancy of said land shall revert to the original grantor, or his heirs or assigns.

FREE TRANSPORTATION.

The constitution should make it a criminal offense, punishable by imprisonment, for any public official to use or cause to be used free transportation from any corporation doing business in the state.

FACTORY AND MINE INSPECTION.

The constitution should provide for factory and mine inspection; state inspectors to be men who know from actual experience or training how to ascertain and correct abuses, so often prevalent in factory and mine.

CHILD LABOR.

I am opposed to the youth of our land being prematurely employed in the mines and factories. There should be a constitutional provision protecting the boys and girls of the state in this respect.

FELLOW SERVANT LAW.

I favor a just and equitable fellow servant law. Common justice dictates that an employer should be responsible for the neglect or carelessness of any agency which he puts into operation or service; just as an employer is responsible for damages that occur from bad machinery, just so he should be held to liability for all damages that result from careless and incompetent laborers. Furthermore, the right of action to recover damages for injury or death should never be abrogated and the amount recoverable should never be subject to any statutory limitation.

RIGHT HOURS.

The labor party should be respected in their demand that eight hours shall constitute a day's work in all underground mines and all works carried on by the state, county or municipal government. When a man works the year 'round, eight hours is enough.

REMOVAL OF RESTRICTIONS.

I believe the constitutional convention should memorialize congress to remove all the restrictions from all the lands of the tribal citizens except the homestead of full bloods, and to take from the Secretary of the Interior the control of the full bloods, and permit the proper courts of Oklahoma to exercise jurisdiction over them in the matter of the removal of his homestead restrictions.

LAND MONOPOLY.

No corporation, whatsoever, should be permitted to buy and hold land for profit. The great mass of industrious farmers of our state should own and control the land interest, and the constitution should provide that no corporation, company or individual shall hoard up lands for speculative purposes. Nothing should deter Oklahoma becoming a land of many homes, and to that end my very best intelligence and most conscientious efforts would be pledged to secure a suitable enactment looking to the detronement of the land and lease grafter.

ALIEN LAND LAW.

There should be incorporated into our state structure an alien land law. Foreign corporations and capitalists should not be permitted to gobble up the land of our state thereby destroying the opportunity of our people to own homes.

A friend remarked that a country not good enough for aliens to live in, is too good to steal in. That is true.

GOOD ROADS.

A good road system is a monument to industry and thrift. If ever a people needed and deserved good roads, those of the Indian Territory section of the new state do. If elected your delegate I will with all the energy and capability I possess, work toward the end of establishing and maintaining good roads. The constitution should make it mandatory upon the legislature to establish a road system.

CONVICT LABOR.

Convicts commit crime against the state and their labor should, as far as possible, redound to the public benefit. I hold that convict labor should be employed altogether on public works, unless in time of emergency. I am unalterably opposed to convict labor competing with honest labor. The states of Kentucky, Tennessee, the Carolinas, Georgia and Texas make the most extensive use of their convicts at road building. This manner of road construction in these and other states range from sixteen to sixty cents per day. I believe that utilizing convict labor on the public roads will lessen the burden of taxation—certainly not an objectionable result.

TRANSFER OF CONVICTS.

If it can be done economically, I favor having transferred as soon as practicable, all able bodied Oklahoma and Indian Territory convicts from the northern prisons, said convicts to be employed on public roads where they are most needed.

TAXES.

I believe that the part of the state now known as Indian Territory, which will enter statehood existence free of debt, should have established for all purposes per year a maximum tax rate, which should apply alike to the Oklahoma Territory part of the state when the counties included in that division should become free of debt. It is difficult to determine at this time just what such rate should be, but certainly not greater than the tax rate in any other agricultural state of like financial strength and with respectable credit. I would advocate the most conscientious attitude in providing only for the most economical government. The building of luxurious statehouses and expensive courthouses should be discouraged. Every citizen between the ages of twenty-one and forty-five years should pay a poll tax. This should be applied to the common school fund.

INTANGIBLE ASSET LAW.

I would favor an intangible asset law closely akin if not identical to that of Texas. I have not yet mastered that law but it has been named as exceptionally strong by the best Democratic thought.

BOARD OF EQUALIZATION.

HOMESTEAD EXEMPTIONS.

Homestead and other exemption laws are essential to the protection of the mother and children. These are our first creditors. I would favor a liberal exemption law of both country and urban homes. Farming implements and household furniture should be exempt. The homestead should not be mortgaged or otherwise incumbered for any other purpose than for purchase money or for money expended for improvements.

INTEREST RATES.

A clause governing rates of interest should be adopted. Good authorities advocate ten per cent as a maximum amount for interest charged upon notes, and six per cent as a regular legal rate upon open accounts and all indebtedness where the rate is not agreed upon and reduced to writing. A violator of this law, whether direct or indirect, should forfeit the interest charged and suffer in addition to this an appropriate punishment.

INJUNCTIONS.

Many courts of the land have abused their right to issue injunctions. The Colorado scandal is a shameful monument to this abuse. I would earnestly advocate that the state constitution shall restrict the power of the courts to issue injunctions.

BUCKET SHOPS.

The price of farm products should not be influenced by the operation of stock gamblers. And there should be a constitutional provision prohibiting it.

ELECTIONS.

Holding steadfastly to the principles of Democracy, I would advocate the establishment of a blanket primary election law, by which the people may directly express their preference for all public servants.

RIGHT OF RECALL.

If you should employ an attorney or an agent to serve you in any capacity you have a right to discharge him when he ceases to do this. I advocate that the people should have the same right in relation to their public servants. I think the constitution should stand for the right of recall.

THE RACE QUESTION.

Unquestionably it is the unanimous decision of all Democrats and gentlemen in this delegate district that there should always be an absolute social segregation of the negro from the Indian and whites. Of course, I would favor separate schools, separate coaches and separate waiting rooms.

I believe with all my heart that no man should ever dare to ask the people for a position of trust when he does not fully take them into his confidence. He should tell them frankly his views concerning all public questions. Therefore, I have written briefly what my humble judgment tells me should be included in the constitution of Oklahoma. I recognize to the fullest possible extent that the construction of a constitution is not a child's job. Oily, seductive representatives of "special interests" will be there. One's every moral infirmity and character degeneracy will be quickly ascertained. There will be the allurements of wine and the dazzle of gold. Every art known to man will be practiced to cajole the delegates to wrong.

These menaces to our government, to you and your children, do not even wait till the convention meets to practice their hellish designs. Wherever tenable, they are now assisting in the selection of delegates to the constitutional convention.

Is it not well, and more, a sacred duty, to scrutinize closely the record of every candidate for this sacred trust?

Does not home protection, love for wife and children demand that you select a man of unassailable integrity for your delegate?

Recommending such, I cheerfully invite and solicit you to make the most complete investigation of my Democracy and all my life's transactions, which might assist you to determine what manner of man I am. In reference to my qualifications to intelligently represent you, the Democracy of this delegate district must judge. I shall come before you in support of the principles I herein advocate, and, in addition, tell you in detail from the stump and in your homes my position on public questions which should be considered in the constitutional convention.

I am and always have been a Democrat, and hold steadfastly to the belief that only by the complete triumph of Democratic principles as taught by Jefferson, defended by Jackson and now advocated by the immaculate Bryan, can this republic a great while longer continue to live; and that only by the strictest adherence to these principles can the people of this Commonwealth, secure to themselves peace, prosperity and happiness. Of course my candidacy for delegate will be subject to the action of the Democratic primaries which will be held in this District.

The support of every honest citizen in this District is respectfully solicited.

Yours obediently,

Sept. 6, 1906. CARLTON WEAVER.

After years of Republican oppression, at the hands of Hitchcock and other ring bosses, the brutality will soon be ended. The justice loving people of the new state are clamoring for a New Deal.

UNION FIXES MINIMUM PRICE OF COTTON AT 11c

Texarkana, Tex., Sept. 6.—The second annual meeting of the National Farmer's Educational and Co-operative Union convened at the City Hall here at 10 o'clock and will continue for three days. The meeting was called to order by National President R. F. Duckworth of Thomaston, Ga. Hon. N. A. Shaw of Texarkana, in behalf of Mayor Stewart, made the address of welcome, which was responded to by D. J. Neil of Texas for the delegates. A committee on credentials was then appointed, after which the convention engaged in a general discussion of various topics of interest to the organization during the remainder of the forenoon.

At the afternoon session the reports of the credentials committee was adopted unanimously. It shows a total of about 300 delegates, Texas heading the list with sixty.

The states represented are Arkansas, Texas, Louisiana, California, Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia, Indiana, Missouri, Kansas, Kentucky, North Carolina, South Carolina, Mississippi and Indian and Oklahoma Territories. The order claims a membership of 600,000. Following the report of the credentials committee came a discussion by the convention of the condition of the cotton crop throughout the territory represented. These reports show a deterioration of 20 per cent in the crop within the last 20 days, due mainly to insects and excessive rains.

A committee, consisting of Ben. L. Griffin, chairman, of Arkansas; E. A. Calvin, of Texas; Dr. H. P. Hudson, of Tennessee; E. A. Cook, of Alabama, and J. B. Pickett, of South Carolina, was appointed to fix the minimum price for this season's cotton crop.

At a late hour last night the delegates of the National Farmers' Union, by unanimous vote, reaffirmed the minimum price of 11c for middling basis at interior points for this year's cotton crop.

Carlton Weaver Announces.

In response to a formal request of a large number of Democrats presented Saturday, August 7th, that I stand for election to the Constitutional Convention, I replied in last week's issue of the Weekly News and a previous issue of the Daily, informing all interested that there were some contingencies which would likely keep me out of the race. In that article I told the people that there was a serious question as to the logic of my candidacy and practically declined to be a candidate. However, since that time I have been complimented by friendliest expressions from many farmers throughout the district. And such expressions were demanded, for, I am frank enough to say, that without a generous support from the farming classes of people in this district I would not care to be elected, even if otherwise it were possible. In the main, conditions have so adjusted themselves that I have finally decided to enter the field and make a conscientious campaign over the district. I am sincerely grateful to my friends over the district for their advance offers of support. Very respectfully,
CARLTON WEAVER.

PURCELL DEMOCRATS.

Party Wants Ada's Help in Organizing Their New Precincts.

The president and secretary of the Eighty-sixth constitutional delegate district (Purcell) have sent out a call asking that the local Democrats at Chism, Maxwell and the adjoining townships to the east call meetings to organize Democratic clubs on the following dates: Tuesday, September 11, at 7:30 p. m. at Chism; Wednesday, September 12, at some suitable hour in the afternoon, at Maxwell, and at schoolhouse near Pleas Roberts' place at night.

These precincts are to the northwest of Ada and constitute a part of our Sixteenth recording district. The Democrats in district 86 are well organized except in those precincts mentioned. They earnestly request Democrats of Ada to meet with them on the above dates and help in the organization. Republicans are hoping to carry 86, and it behooves the local Democracy to help our neighbors. As many as can get away next week should attend those meetings. Up there the Democratic primary has been called for September 18, so there is scant time in which to perfect organization and overcome the Republican gerrymander.

PYTHIANS DISPLEASED.

Oppose the Plan for Merging the Two Grand Lodges.

Oklahoma City, Ok. Sept. 6.—The officers of the Indian Territory and Oklahoma Knights of Pythias held a meeting here yesterday and discussed matters pertaining to merging the two lodges. The supreme constitutional committee at New Orleans next month will recommend that when the two territories shall become one state that the supreme chancellor shall declare the two domains dissolved and void, and a new grand lodge will be installed. This arrangement is not satisfactory to Indian Territory grand lodge, and an effort will be made to alter this provision. It was decided today to send the following delegation to the New Orleans meeting: S. H. Davis, of Davis; J. B. Morrow, of Checotah, I. T.; J. D. Lydiek, of Shawnee, and J. E. Shanefelt, of Oklahoma City.

Restrictions Removed.

The secretary of the interior has approved the applications of the following named persons for the removal of restrictions on the alienation of the lands allotted to them, exclusive of their homesteads.

Chickasaws; Nannie Landrum, Foyil, I. T.
Creeks; Albert Moore, Stidham, I. T.
Tobe Belcher, Eufala, Emma (nee Williams) Coppage, Bixby.

AMERICAN ARTISTS ABROAD

Their Merit Recognized and Rewarded Earlier Than It Is at Home.

Once more an American artist's picture holds the place of honor at the exhibition of the Royal Academy in London. Sargent had attained that honor; now it is Abbey's turn, with a picture distinctly American in subject, representing Columbus landing in the new world. Several other well-known American artists figure among the notable exhibitors. In the two annual picture shows now open in Paris, the same fact is true, reports the New York World.

American artists frequently complain, as do singers and musicians, that the surest way to distinction at home is recognition abroad. The protest implies that merit is not so readily accepted here as merit as it is in France and England.

The distinction attained by Sargent in London has done more than all his early successors in this country to assure his preeminence. The same may be said to be true of Abbey, although fame came to him easy as an illustrator. Something may be due to the circumstance that for years both have done most of their work abroad. Beyond a doubt, however, art is viewed far more hospitably in Paris and London than in New York. We have yet no art exhibitions that occupy so large a place in popular life as the regular shows of the two foreign capitals.

It is noteworthy also that more contemporary American artists have room in the Luxembourg museum, where living painters must await admission to the Louvre, than in our own Metropolitan. The Paris list counts about 25, among them Whistler, Sargent, Winslow Homer, La Farge, Alexander Harrison, Henry Mosler, Walter MacEwen, Garl Melchers, Miss Cassatt, Edwin L. Weeks and H. O. Tanner.

Under the old management American artists were treated with suspicion at the Metropolitan. It was sometimes difficult to get their works through the museum's doors even as gifts.

Fortunate, all that is being rapidly changed. Sir Purdon Clarke advocates the necessity of building up a representative American collection. Mr. George A. Hearn has donated a large fund, of which the income is reserved for the purchase of American works. It is a curious commentary on American taste that it was not until a foreign director was put in charge of the Metropolitan that American artists were promised something of the same public recognition they receive from the French government.

TURKEY WITH WOODEN LEG

Tale of a Gobbler That Smacks Something of the Munchausen Flavor.

In most communities there are certain persons who possess peculiar characteristics, habits and beliefs, and this is true of the "long shore sportsman" of the old Mother State as of persons dwelling elsewhere, says Forest and Stream.

Many of the old time sportsmen still carry and use their muzzle loading guns, which cannot be displaced by more modern arms. They usually manage to bag a good many birds and other game, and this is chiefly due, it is believed, to their knowledge of the habits of the game. They seldom go out without finding something.

A story is told of one gunner who if any of the shot should fall from his hands while loading his gun will at once return home and make no further effort to hunt that day, believing as he says, that those lost were his luck shot, and it would be useless for him to continue the hunt.

Another, whom I will call here Capt. Pete, is a sailor and all round sportsman. He loves to tell of his adventures with his dogs and gun, and is seldom seen without them. He tells many stories about the accuracy of Sweet Lips, his gun, and declares he can beat any man "a-shootin' for a turkey in the United States of Virginnia."

On the occasion of a turkey hunt near the Rappahannock river Capt. Pete claims to have shot a 40-pound wild turkey, for which he was offered $4 cash. The gray whiskers on the turkey's breast were 18 inches long, and he had one wooden leg. Here Capt. Pete gives a laugh that could be heard a half mile away. "Sar, he was the biggest turkey I ever saw. There were 18 fellows in the bunch of us, and four others besides, and all ate a sumptuous meal from one-half of his breast."

Uncle Pete says he cannot account for that one wooden leg unless that turkey had been previously owned by some one as a pet wild turkey.

A gardener in Korea has formed a natural arm-chair by twisting a growing vine to the required shape. It is also studded with seeds of the ginkgo tree, which have grown into the fibers of the vine. After the chair was fashioned in this way it was cut from the ground, dried and polished until it resembled mahogany. It is 3 feet 4 inches high, 25 inches wide and weighs over 100 pounds.

ODD POINT IN AUTO CASE.

Relatives of Victim Hold Motorist Who Raised Dust Partly to Blame for Accident.

Paris.—A curious point in an action against a motor car driver came before the judges of the French chamber. It was a question as to whether a chauffeur who had raised dust could be proceeded against for homicide for carelessness.

On May 1 last an automobile passed a cyclist on the road between Melun and Paris. The car raised a cloud of dust, with the result that the cyclist could not see his way. His machine swerved, and he was overtaken by another motor car, which knocked him down and killed him.

Could the driver of the first car, which had raised a cloud of dust, be held responsible for the accident caused by the second car? The case came before the Corbell court, which imposed a fine of $200 on the driver of the second car, besides compelling him to pay $600 compensation. But the driver of the car which caused the dust to fly was acquitted, and his claim for $40 for being unjustly prosecuted was allowed against the family of the cyclist who was killed. This decision was appealed against.

BODY GIVEN TO COLLEGE.

Aged Convict's Request Carried Out by Prison Authorities at Michigan City, Ind.

Michigan City, Ind.—The body of the dead life convict, James Blackwood, who was the oldest inmate of the state prison, was taken to the Valparaiso college for dissection by the medical department.

Blackwood died in the prison hospital after serving 18 years behind the prison bars. He had been here since the transfer from Jeffersonville in 1887.

As Blackwood was dying there stood beside his cot James L. Myers, the murderer who was given a pardon by Gov. Hanly. Myers was found praying for the dying convict when the glad tidings of the pardon came to his ears.

Blackwood served 18 years for a murder in Clay county in 1887. All that remains of his family is a son residing in Texas. The son was notified after death, but made no reply.

The crime for which James Blackwood was sentenced occurred while a party was returning from a dance in Benwood, Clay county, to Cardonia. Blackwood quarreled with his wife. In the fight which followed the woman was knocked down and sustained four broken ribs. She was wrapped in a bundle of straw and left by the roadside, where she was found in the morning. She died soon after. Blackwood pleaded guilty and was sentenced by the late Judge Coffey, of Brazil.

Tapioca Jelly for Invalids

One cup of tapioca, three cups of cold water, juice of a lemon and a pinch of grated peel. Sweeten to taste. Soak the tapioca in the boiling water four hours. Set within a saucepan of boiling water; pour more lukewarm water over the tapioca if it has absorbed too much of the liquid, and heat, stirring frequently. If too thick after it begins to clear, put in a very little boiling water. When quite clear put in sugar and lemon. Pour into molds. Eat cold, with cream flavored with rosewater and sweetened.

OVERDRAFTS

It is becoming well known by business men that overdrafts, whether large or small, are not approved by the comptroller of the currency. The large central banks allow overdrafts only in a very small way, and this, it matters not how small, is not approved by the powers that be. This unbusinesslike habit of overdrafts grew out of advancing on moving products, such as cotton, grain and fat stock on the move. The overdraft system is wrong and the man whose account is always overdrawn is the man who spends more money than he makes and will finally have no bank account.

AROUND THE BASES

WHEN "HEINE" PEITZ GOT THE WORST OF IT

The recent McGinnity-Peitz battle created much discussion among the Chicago Nationals. While it was pleasing to them in a way as indicative of the irritableness of the Giants under defeat, lessening their chances for recovery, they deplore the fight because of its effect on the public. Several players allowed they had been expecting Peitz would provoke some player beyond the limit for some time. Incidentally, there came to light, a verbal contest between Peitz and Manager Chance early this season on the West side, which is the only case on record in which Heine got the worst of it.

Peitz was coaching at first and began kidding Chance to rattle him. "Say, I see you're a real manager now, Frank. How did you manage it?" and other remarks of similar nature were hurled at Chance between Peitz' stereotyped bits of advice to the batter to "make it be good," "look him over," etc. Chance apparently heard none of the gibes and said nothing until he walked over toward his base while a foul was being recovered, when he looked up at Heine in feigned surprise and said: "Why, hello, Heine, are you still with the Pittsburgh team? Dreyfuss was asking for waivers on you a few days ago." Peitz shut up like a clam for the rest of the day and spent his time wondering if Chance was kidding or, being a club manager, telling the truth.

REMARKABLE FEATS OF PLAYERS WITH THE BAT

The other day Fred Tenny, of the Boston Nationals, succeeded in making four hits in a game. This is a rare feat, considering the number of games played and the army of players taking part in them. It has been accomplished only 22 times this season. Twice this season five hits per game have been made, by Schulte of Chicago, and by Clarke, of Pittsburgh. Schulte got his five hits off Taylor and Ferguson in a game at New York on June 6. Clarke hit Sparks five times safely in a ten-inning game at Philadelphia on June 11. These are the best records of the number of hits made this season, but they are not the best in the matter of total bases. Schulte and Clarke each had a double among their five hits, giving each a total of six bases.

The best record of the season is a total of nine bases, made by Catcher Kling, of the Chicago team. In a game on May 18 at Chicago he had a double, a triple and a home run off Nichols and McCloskey, of the Philadelphia team. The next heaviest individual batting was done by Ward, of Philadelphia; Wagner, of Pittsburgh, and Ganley, of Pittsburgh, each of whom made a total of seven bases in a game. On April 27 Ward in a game at New York, hit Wiltse for two singles, a double and triple; Wagner, on May 30, hit Welmer, of Cincinnati, for two doubles and a triple, and on June 2 Ganley made a single and two triples off Taylor, then pitching for St. Louis. A total of six bases in a game was made by Himes, of St. Louis; Maloney, of Brooklyn; Ward, of Philadelphia; Schulte, of Chicago; Steinfeldt, of Chicago; Clarke, of Pittsburgh; Jordan, of Brooklyn, and Schlei, of Cincinnati.

Of course, the record made by Kling does not for a moment compare with the record of the major leagues. In 1884 Dave Orr, then with the Metropolitans, put the mark at 12 total bases. Two years later, in 1886, Guy Hecker, of Louisville, and Dan Brouthers, of Detroit, raised the figures to 15; Hecker against Pitcher Dick Conway, and Brouthers against Jim McCormick. This mark stood for three years. Larry Twitchell, of Cleveland, in 1889, hoisted it a notch by hitting Mike Madden for a total of 16 bases.

For five years this was the shining mark, and then Link Lowe, of the Boston team, astonished the baseball world by making a total of 17 bases. He did this on May 30, 1894, in a game at Boston against the Cincinnati, who had Elton Chamberlain in the box. Lowe cracked out four home runs and a single. Two years later, on July 13, 1896, Ed. Delehanty duplicated the feat. He was a member of the Philadelphia team. In a game at Chicago he hit Bill Terry for four home runs and a single, giving him a total of 17 bases. This is now the world's record and bids fair to remain so for some time to come.

HOWELL'S START AS A PROFESSIONAL PITCHER

When J. C. Chapman owned and managed the Meriden Connecticut league champions, Harry Howell, the crack pitcher of the St. Louis Browns, lived in Brooklyn. He called on Manager Chapman at his residence in that city early in the spring of '98, asking for a job with the Meriden club, and said that he had been told by a number of players that Chapman was always willing to give a

BALL AND BAT NOTES

National League Notes.

Chappie McFarland has been signed by Brooklyn after playing brief engagements with St. Louis and Pittsburgh.

Frank Burke, an outfielder, and James Hannifan, an infielder, of the New Haven team of the Connecticut league, will become members of the Giants at the end of the Connecticut league season.

Pat Livingstone, who was expected to add batting strength to the Reds, as well as catching vigor, is hitting way under 200.

Philadelphia fans are said to be sore at Hughey Duffy for the poor showing of the team. He has done the best he could.

Fred Henney keeps on smiting. He may surprise everyone by butting into the 300 class as he used to.

A syndicate comprising Samuel Cohen, Eugene Devine and George Thies, St. Louis business men, have been informed that their offer of $150,000 for the St. Louis National league franchise has been refused by the owners, the Messrs. Robison.

Johnny Kling, catcher for the Cubs, has gone to Kansas City in response to a telegram announcing his father's death in that city. Kling's father was 78 years old. Kling's absence will put the entire catching end of the team up to Moran for at least a week.

Spike Shannon's contract with the New Yorks is said to call for $3,000 a year for two years.

Chicago Nationals have a new catcher, Tom Walsh. He is from Davenport, Ia.

"Batty" Abbatichio has refused to return to the game, in spite of a handsome offer by the New York Nationals. He is making good hand over fist in the hotel business.

American League News.

"Eggie" Lennox, the star third baseman of the Tristate league, has deserted the Lancaster club and signed with the Philadelphia Athletics.

Koehler has covered every position in the St. Louis American's infield. His regular place is in the outfield. Thomas, Griffith's reserve catcher, seems to be a terrible slugger. In the few games he has so far played he has batted nearly 400.

Harry Davis is not hitting as hard as he did earlier in the season and is just at the 300 mark.

Coombs seems to be quite a pitcher. At least he keeps on winning games.

Willie Keeler is soaking valiantly and bids fair to dispute the batting lead of his league with Stone and Lajoie.

Chase is back in harness and the Highlanders are playing correspondingly strong ball. Clark Griffith, manager of the Highlanders, is after Pitcher Fred Glade of the St. Louis Browns, and is willing to give Jimmy Williams or Joe Yeager in exchange.

President Charles A. Comiskey of the White Sox announced that he had signed Pitcher Buck Freeman of the Evansville Central league team for next season. Freeman has been doing great work this year, and Jimmy Ryan told Comiskey that he was a coming wonder, and Commy went after him. Last season Freeman won 17 and lost 10 games. He batted .203 and fielded .932 in 35 games.

Among the Minors.

Robert L. Caruthers, known to the bleachers only as "Bobby," is occupying the calcium light nearly as much as an umpire as he did when starring as one of the strongest slab artists of the St. Louis Browns. He alone of the staff of "Three-Eye" unpires who reported for duty at the first of the season is still handling the indicator. His ability to keep a game moving from start to finish is one of his strongest characteristics.

Hardy, the Washington castoff, is pitching good ball for the Providence club.

Cleveland offered President Coleman $3,000 for Pitcher Liebhart, but failed to land the Memphis wonder. "Jimmy" Barrett leads the Rochester team in batting, with .324 in ten games.

The Providence club has signed third baseman Storke, of the Amherst college team.

PLAYS AND PLAYERS

FORTUNES OF STAGE STARS.

Some interesting facts concerning the relation between stage fame and wealth have been brought forward by an English observer. Probate of the will of the late Henry Irving, recently granted to his two sons, caused the investigation to be made. The gross value of the Irving estate was found to be only $102,600.

The size of the Irving fortune, or, rather, its lack of size, caused very general comment, for it was presumed, of course, that the famous English actor had amassed a great estate. What is true in this most recent case, however, has been similarly true of other actors. Although they have received large incomes, seldom at their death have they left large fortunes. They spend money generously, even lavishly, and usually give whenever they are asked to the cause of various charities. It seems, moreover, that it is the custom in the theatrical profession to declare that an actor receives much more than he actually does. This in itself causes him to spend recklessly, for if he would not be considered niggardly he must live up to what the general public believes his income to be.

|   |           |
|---|-----------|
| Wilson Barrett, aged 57, left $2,000 for charities   | $150,000 |
| Lady Martin (Helena Faucit), aged 82  | 135,000   |
| Edwin Booth, aged 59  | 120,000   |
| Sir Augustus Harris, aged 44  | 115,000   |
| William James Lewin (William Terris), aged 50   | 65,000    |
| Frederick Hobson (Fred Leslie), aged 57   | 80,000    |
| George Wild Galvin (Dan Leno), aged 45; said to have earned $150 a week and probably did earn for some time $100 a week | 50,000    |
| Herbert Edward Storey (Herbert Campbell), aged 61   | 20,000    |
| William Rignold, aged 68  | 20,000    |
| Mme. Goldschmidt (Jenny Lind), aged 67  | 200,000   |
| Ernest Dinard (Ernesto Nicolino), aged 62, the famous operatic tenor singer   | 200,000   |
| Richard Corney Grain, aged 50   | 80,000    |
| Frederick Burgess, aged 67 (Moore and Burgess' minstrels)   | 50,000    |
| Frederick Charles Hengler, aged 67, circus proprietor   | 25,000    |
| Frederick Ginnett, aged 57, circus proprietor   | 160,000   |
| Frederick William Sanger, circus proprietor   | 35,000    |

The estate of Richard d'Oyly Carte, aged 56, of the Savoy theater, was sworn for probate at $1,200,000, probably the largest sum ever left by a public entertainer.

THE ART OF MIMICRY.

Elsie Janis Says It Is a Gift Which Needs Much Cultivation.

"It isn't easy to become a successful mimic. It is far less easy to tell how to be one," says Elsie Janis, who is starring in the "Vanderbilt Cup."

"Many people have an idea that mimicry is a gift, that no training is required for it, and that if a man or woman can exaggerate the conspicuous walk or speech or mannerism of some friend he or she is a full-fledged mimic and open for a vaudeville engagement."

"Nothing could be farther from the truth. Mimicry valuable enough to be used professionally is a gift, it is true, but it is a gift which must be discovered early in childhood and cultivated assiduously, with unremitting practice to make it of any use to the owner."

"There is nothing living in the world that is not a conscious or unconscious mimic. Insects, butterflies, snakes, birds and many animals change their color or shape to resemble other objects in order to protect themselves from attack. Parrots and monkeys are notorious mimics, while all the training of trick animals is simply the development of their power of mimicry."

"The training of a human being from its infancy to its grave is founded upon this power. Why do you wear shirtwaists buttoned in the back one week and Peter Pans the next, or change your coiffure from pompadour to part and back again? Because you wish to mimic other people."

"The successful professional mimic must have flexible facial muscles and have perfect control of the muscles of the throat and vocal organs. These things can only be acquired when the muscles are undeveloped and soft. Therefore the successful mimic must begin training early in childhood."

"The mimic is pre-eminently a maker of faces. So if you have a small girl who persists in making faces, to your great mortification, do not discourage her until you have studied her carefully and decided whether or not she has powers of mimicry that may make her livelihood."

"To strike the personal note, which I know is pardonable, this is the way I began to be a mimic. I never can remember the time when I didn't make faces, but I can remember quite distinctly the scoldings I used to get for doing so when I was a little child. Finally a good angel in the shape of a family friend advised that I be allowed to follow my propensity for face making and mimicking people, and then I was happy. From that time to this I have never stopped practicing."

HAS HIS MANAGER PICKED.

Eddie Foy and His Play Were First Considerations.

Eddie Foy strolled up the Great White Way in a jubilant frame of mind the other day.

"Hello, Eddie," a friend said, saluting him. "Why so debonair?"

"I'm going to star next season, that's all. The piece is a musical comedy just copyrighted and it's written by an actor, John D. Gilbert, and it's called 'The Wild and Woolly Way.'"

"My name in the play is a regular appetite breaker, Plankington Shadd. He's an actor man who turns up in a new western country like Oklahoma on the day when the legislature meets for the first time."

"Those first time legislators have been having a blowup and they've killed all the editors in town—seven of them. There has to be an editor, so they make one out of Mr. Plankington Shadd."

"There's where the complications come in. Can you see me as an editor? It's great!"

"And who is going to manage you?" Mr. Foy was asked.

"Oh, I ain't bothering about managers," was Eddie's answer. "I've got that fixed all right."

And Mr. Foy marched off jubilant.

WHEN YOU'RE CANNING BERRIES

Proportions to Use—The Cooking and Filling of the Bottles.

Allow three pints of fruit for the filling of one quart jar. Look over the berries carefully, and if any imperfect ones appear, do not hesitate to throw them to one side. Into your porcelain kettle put one cupful of white sugar and just enough water to start the berries cooking, and as soon as the sugar is melted, add your berries. Cover, and watch carefully, and as soon as they reach the boiling point remove the kettle from the fire, filling the jar to within one-eighth of an inch of the top, filling this space with berries dipped from the juice. Wipe all juice from the top of the can, adjust the rubber (it is well to put the rubber on before filling) and screw on the lid as tight as possible. Invert the can and let remain thus for a few minutes; examine, and if any should be found leaking around the lid, take a small hammer or knife-handle and pound all around the edge of the lid, especially pounding down where the leak appears, taking pains to have the striking done on the lid and rubber alone. Repeat this, until no leak appears, then let the jars stand, inverted, until perfectly cool, advises a writer in the home department of The Commoner. If the jar continues to leak, open, empty the contents, reheat, and try another lid; or it may be the rubber that is at fault, but generally, the lid is ill-fitting. Wrap the cans in thick paper when putting them away, as the light affects the color of some fruits, and spoils the flavor of others.

One of the very best helps in canning time is a steam cooker; or an old-fashioned steamer is just as good. The jars may be filled with the uncooked fruit, the top put on loosely and steamed until hot through, filling part of the jars with the contents of others, as the berries settle down when heated. The same care must be taken to have the fruit "boiling hot" in the jar as when canning by cooking it in a kettle. It keeps its "looks" much better when canned by steam, and does not so much as lose its shape. When cooked thus, no water is added to the fruit when the jar is filled—the fruit, aided by the steam, will make its own juice. The water under the steamer or in the cooker must be boiling briskly when the jars are set in, and it must not be allowed to cease from boiling while the jars are inside. It is the steam which cooks, and there must be plenty of it.

ABOUT GLASS IN THE BATHROOM

Glass Appointments Are Not Necessarily Expensive and Are Ideal.

Many a bathroom is fitted out with glass appointments—shelves and racks (the long bars held in place by trimmings of nickel), soap cups and the "little fixings," all of glass. Even the wooden window sills in an occasional bathroom are removed and a heavy glass shelf substituted, says the Chicago Chronicle.

Fortunately, glass of the quality used for such purposes is not necessarily expensive, although, as in everything else, the question of how much it shall cost really depends upon the individual buyer.

Bowls and cooking spoons of glass—heavy, but almost unbreakable with ordinary handling—are so satisfactory, by virtue of their cleanliness, that the woman who tries either or both instantly becomes a convert to their use. Perhaps the most unusual glass-made piece of all is a rolling-pin, hollow, and so made that it can be opened and the hollow filled with cracked ice, when working with pastry, which must be kept well chilled, even during the rolling process.

Great slabs of glass make the best sort of pie and bread boards.

To Clean Matting.

To clean matting it should be first swept thoroughly with a stiff broom, following the grain of the straw, then swept across the grain with a soft broom that has been dipped in warm water in which a handful of salt has been dissolved. Nothing brightens colored matting so much as the salt and, moreover, it goes far to prevent it fading. The light-colored matting should be washed in water in which borax has been dissolved. If any grease spots are noticed before the matting is cleaned cover them with a mixture of prepared chalk wet with turpentine, which, after being allowed to remain on for two days, should be removed with a stiff brush. In the event of the grease having sunk in about one-eighth of washing soda added to the mixture will be effectual. Sweet milk is said to keep the matting in a good state of preservation and it is only necessary to use the application about once a year.

To Shrink Linen.

For shrinking linen the following instructions have been found to be very satisfactory: First, after a bathtub has been carefully dusted fill it about quarter full with clear cold water. It should be first filtered if it is at all dark or cloudy. Then, leaving the linen in its folds, wrap it in a clean towel and allow it to remain in the water over night. When taken out in the morning do not wring the water from it, but leaving it still folded hang it up dripping. It will take some time to dry, but the material will be thoroughly shrunken and will not need to be pressed.

So Rugs Won't Curl.

Strips of stiff buckram sewed along the edges of rugs will prevent them curling up.

To Keep Away Rust.

A good blacking will protect the heating stoves from summer dampness, which so quickly generates rust.

Declaration of Principles of Carlton Weaver

Candidate for Delegate to the Constitutional Convention From District 87

To the Voters of the Eighty-seventh Constitutional Delegate District:

Since I have entered the race for delegate to the constitutional convention, I consider it my bounden duty to proclaim where I stand in support of principles vital in importance to the people of this country at this time.

I believe our constitution should deal with fundamental principles of government; with ordinances and provisions of a permanent nature, those essential to life and property. To these, most conscientious and intelligent attention must be given.

The constitution will include a Bill of Rights, in which there should be written those political truths already worked out in the progressive history of representative government. These fundamental principles and proven political truths should be planted so deeply and intelligently into the foundation of our state's government that the absolute guarantee is given to the citizen, that every right and opportunity necessary to his peace, prosperity and happiness shall irrevocably be his for all time.

In constructing a constitution the people should differentiate between state organic law or constitutional requirements and statutory enactments.

The people will remember that state legislatures may pass any law that the federal constitution or its own state constitution does not prohibit. And that the national congress may only pass such laws as it is permitted to pass by the federal constitution. There should not be too much included in the constitution, but it must, most positively, be seen to that it does not lack anything or contain anything, so that in the coming legislatures of the state it will ever occur, that the people's desires will be frustrated by the dictum: "Unconstitutional."

But my fellow citizens, in this day of Commercialism, when predatory wealth has such a glutinous hand at the throats of the people, and organized greed is so firmly entrenched, and the gates of wicked opportunity are opened so wide to the grafters, there are several questions of transcendent importance that must not wait for possibly corrupt legislatures to pass upon.

I respectfully submit to you my views on some of these vital questions, and, in the event you sustain them by sending me to the constitutional convention, I shall struggle with all the strength of my being, to secure their enactment into an intelligent and effective law.

INITIATIVE AND REFERENDUM.

That government which stays closest to the people is the most ideal and less apt to get beyond control. Therefore the initiative and referendum is the best safeguard against the government getting beyond the reach of the people. I would advocate these principles because they give to the people the right to initiate, accept or reject legislation. These principles would serve as a death blow to the lobbyist's corrupting influence, which has proved such a menace to equitable and just legislation.

FREE SCHOOLS

I need not emphasize the many virtues of a free school system. The citizenship of tomorrow depends upon the educational advantages of today. I would strive with all the ardor of my being, to have the constitution guarantee to every child of the state, howsoever poor, the very best school advantages. To that end I would favor establishing and maintaining, for as long a period as possible, in each year, a free school system. The state should manufacture and furnish free, or at cost, uniform school books, by this means breaking the shackles of the text book trust.

SCHOOL FUND.

Some estimate that Oklahoma will own practically fifty million dollars for school purposes. This should be zealously guarded. If handled judiciously it will guarantee a perpetual school fund. I would favor a bonded school-land commission, elected by the people, to see that this fund is not in any way misappropriated. I would favor investing the five million dollars given to the state for a permanent school fund in the very best county, state, municipal and school district bonds, provided same cannot be invested in coal lands as hereinbelow advocated. I would also advocate the retention of all school lands now owned by the state; and that the revenues from these lands, together with the interest derived from the above mentioned five million dollars shall constitute the available school funds of the state.

COAL LANDS.

In this connection I would advocate, above all, the appointment of a commission to negotiate with the Indian tribes and federal government for the coal lands, exclusively for school purposes. This commission to be empowered to appropriate the five million dollar school fund, or any part thereof, in obtaining said coal lands. This would be an ideal investment; because, first, it would prevent the railroads from owning and operating said mines and controlling the price of coal (cheap fuel inevitably resulting). Second, the revenues derived from said lands would vastly enrich the state school fund.

In the event the state should obtain possession of the coal lands, I would favor dealing separately with the surface, dividing same into homesteads and town lots and offering same for sale, giving parties residing thereon the preference right of purchase.

CORPORATIONS AND TRUSTS.

The constitution should contain an iron clad anti-trust provision. There should be a corporation commission, elected by the people, such commission to be empowered to exercise all necessary supervision of corporations, including railroads; to see that corporation charters are obeyed to the letter; that rebates and discriminations do not occur without just punishment; to compel, by the aid of the courts, strict obedience of the laws enacted for the protection of patrons, employees and honest competition. I would favor a clause which shall forever put a check to immunity pleas of individual members of law-breaking corporations.

I would favor not only fining the abstract corporation, for violation of the anti-trust law, but the imprisonment of promoters of all criminal corporations.

The constitution should forbid any railroad or other corporation to do more than acquire an easement on any land, and then only on such land as is necessary to furnish right of way, station grounds, or for shops or for some other necessary department of the corporation. And should the corporation abandon its legitimate business, or have its charter forfeited, then the use and occupancy of said land shall revert to the original grantor, or his heirs or assigns.

FREE TRANSPORTATION.

The constitution should make it a criminal offense, punishable by imprisonment, for any public official to use or cause to be used free transportation from any corporation doing business in the state.

FACTORY AND MINE INSPECTION.

The constitution should provide for factory and mine inspection; state inspectors to be men who know from actual experience or training how to ascertain and correct abuses, so often prevalent in factory and mine.

CHILD LABOR.

I am opposed to the youth of our land being prematurely employed in the mines and factories. There should be a constitutional provision protecting the boys and girls of the state in this respect.

FELLOW SERVANT LAW.

I favor a just and equitable fellow servant law. Common justice dictates that an employer should be responsible for the neglect or carelessness of any agency which he puts into operation or service; just as an employer is responsible for damages that occur from bad machinery, just so he should be held liable for all damages that result from careless and incompetent laborers. Furthermore, the right of action to recover damages for injury or death should never be abrogated and the amount recoverable should never be subject to any statutory limitation.

RIGHT HOURS.

The labor party should be respected in their demand that eight hours shall constitute a day's work in all underground mines and all works carried on by the state, county or municipal government. When a man works the year 'round, eight hours is enough.

REMOVAL OF RESTRICTIONS.

I believe the constitutional convention should memorialize congress to remove all the restrictions from all the lands of the tribal citizens except the homestead of full bloods, and to take from the Secretary of the Interior the control of the full bloods, and permit the proper courts of Oklahoma to exercise jurisdiction over them in the matter of the removal of his homestead restrictions.

LAND MONOPOLY.

No corporation, whatsoever, should be permitted to buy and hold land for profit. The great mass of industrious farmers of our state should own and control the land interest, and the constitution should provide that no corporation, company or individual shall hoard up lands for speculative purposes. Nothing should deter Oklahoma becoming a land of many homes, and to that end my very best intelligence and most conscientious efforts would be pledged to secure a suitable enactment looking to the dethronement of the land and lease grafter.

ALIEN LAND LAW.

There should be incorporated into our state structure an alien land law. Foreign corporations and capitalists should not be permitted to gobble up the land of our state thereby destroying the opportunity of our people to own homes.

A friend remarked that a country not good enough for aliens to live in, is too good to steal in. That is true.

GOOD ROADS.

A good road system is a monument to industry and thrift. If ever a people needed and deserved good roads, those of the Indian Territory section of the new state do. If elected your delegate I will with all the energy and capability I possess, work toward the end of establishing and maintaining good roads. The constitution should make it mandatory upon the legislature to establish a road system.

CONVICT LABOR.

Convicts commit crime against the state and their labor should, as far as possible, redound to the public benefit. I hold that convict labor should be employed altogether on public works, unless in time of emergency. I am unalterably opposed to convict labor competing with honest labor. The states of Kentucky, Tennessee, the Carolinas, Georgia and Texas make the most extensive use of their convicts at road building. This manner of road construction in these and other states range from sixteen to sixty cents per day. I believe that utilizing convict labor on the public roads will lessen the burden of taxation—certainly not an objectionable result.

TRANSFER OF CONVICTS.

If it can be done economically, I favor having transferred as soon as practicable, all able bodied Oklahoma and Indian Territory convicts from the northern prisons, said convicts to be employed on public roads where they are most needed.

TAXES.

I believe that the part of the state now known as Indian Territory, which will enter statehood existence free of debt, should have established for all purposes per year a maximum tax rate, which should apply alike to the Oklahoma Territory part of the state when the counties included in that division should become free of debt. It is difficult to determine at this time just what such rate should be, but certainly not greater than the tax rate in any other agricultural state of like financial strength and with respectable credit. I would advocate the most conscientious attitude in providing only for the most economical government. The building of luxurious statehouses and expensive courthouses should be discouraged. Every citizen between the ages of twenty-one and forty-five years should pay a poll tax. This should be applied to the common school fund.

INTANGIBLE ASSET LAW.

I would favor an intangible asset law closely akin if not identical to that of Texas. I have not yet mastered that law but it has been named as exceptionally strong by the best Democratic thought.

BOARD OF EQUALIZATION.

HOMESTEAD EXEMPTIONS.

Homestead and other exemption laws are essential to the protection of the mother and children. These are our first creditors. I would favor a liberal exemption law of both country and urban homes. Farming implements and household furniture should be exempt. The homestead should not be mortgaged or otherwise incumbered for any other purpose than for purchase money or for money expended for improvements.

INTEREST RATES.

A clause governing rates of interest should be adopted. Good authorities advocate ten per cent as a maximum amount for interest charged upon notes, and six per cent as a regular legal rate upon open accounts and all indebtedness where the rate is not agreed upon and reduced to writing. A violator of this law, whether direct or indirect, should forfeit the interest charged and suffer in addition to this an appropriate punishment.

INJUNCTIONS.

Many courts of the land have abused their right to issue injunctions. The Colorado scandal is a shameful monument to this abuse. I would earnestly advocate that the state constitution shall restrict the power of the courts to issue injunctions.

BUCKET SHOPS.

The price of farm products should not be influenced by the operation of stock gamblers. And there should be a constitutional provision prohibiting it.

ELECTIONS.

Holding steadfastly to the principles of Democracy, I would advocate the establishment of a blanket primary election law, by which the people may directly express their preference for all public servants.

RIGHT OF RECALL.

If you should employ an attorney or an agent to serve you in any capacity you have a right to discharge him when he ceases to do this. I advocate that the people should have the same right in relation to their public servants. I think the constitution should stand for the right of recall.

THE RACE QUESTION.

Unquestionably it is the unanimous decision of all Democrats and gentlemen in this delegate district that there should always be an absolute social segregation of the negro from the Indian and whites. Of course, I would favor separate schools, separate coaches and separate waiting rooms.

I believe with all my heart that no man should ever dare to ask the people for a position of trust when he does not fully take them into his confidence. He should tell them frankly his views concerning all public questions. Therefore, I have written briefly what my humble judgment tells me should be included in the constitution of Oklahoma. I recognize to the fullest possible extent that the construction of a constitution is not a child's job. Oily, seductive representatives of "special interests" will be there. One's every moral infirmity and character degeneracy will be quickly ascertained. There will be the allurements of wine and the dazzle of gold. Every art known to man will be practiced to cajole the delegates to wrong.

These menaces to our government, to you and your children, do not even wait till the convention meets to practice their hellish designs. Wherever tenable, they are now assisting in the selection of delegates to the constitutional convention.

Is it not well, and more, a sacred duty, to scrutinize closely the record of every candidate for this sacred trust?

Does not home protection, love for wife and children demand that you select a man of unassailable integrity for your delegate?

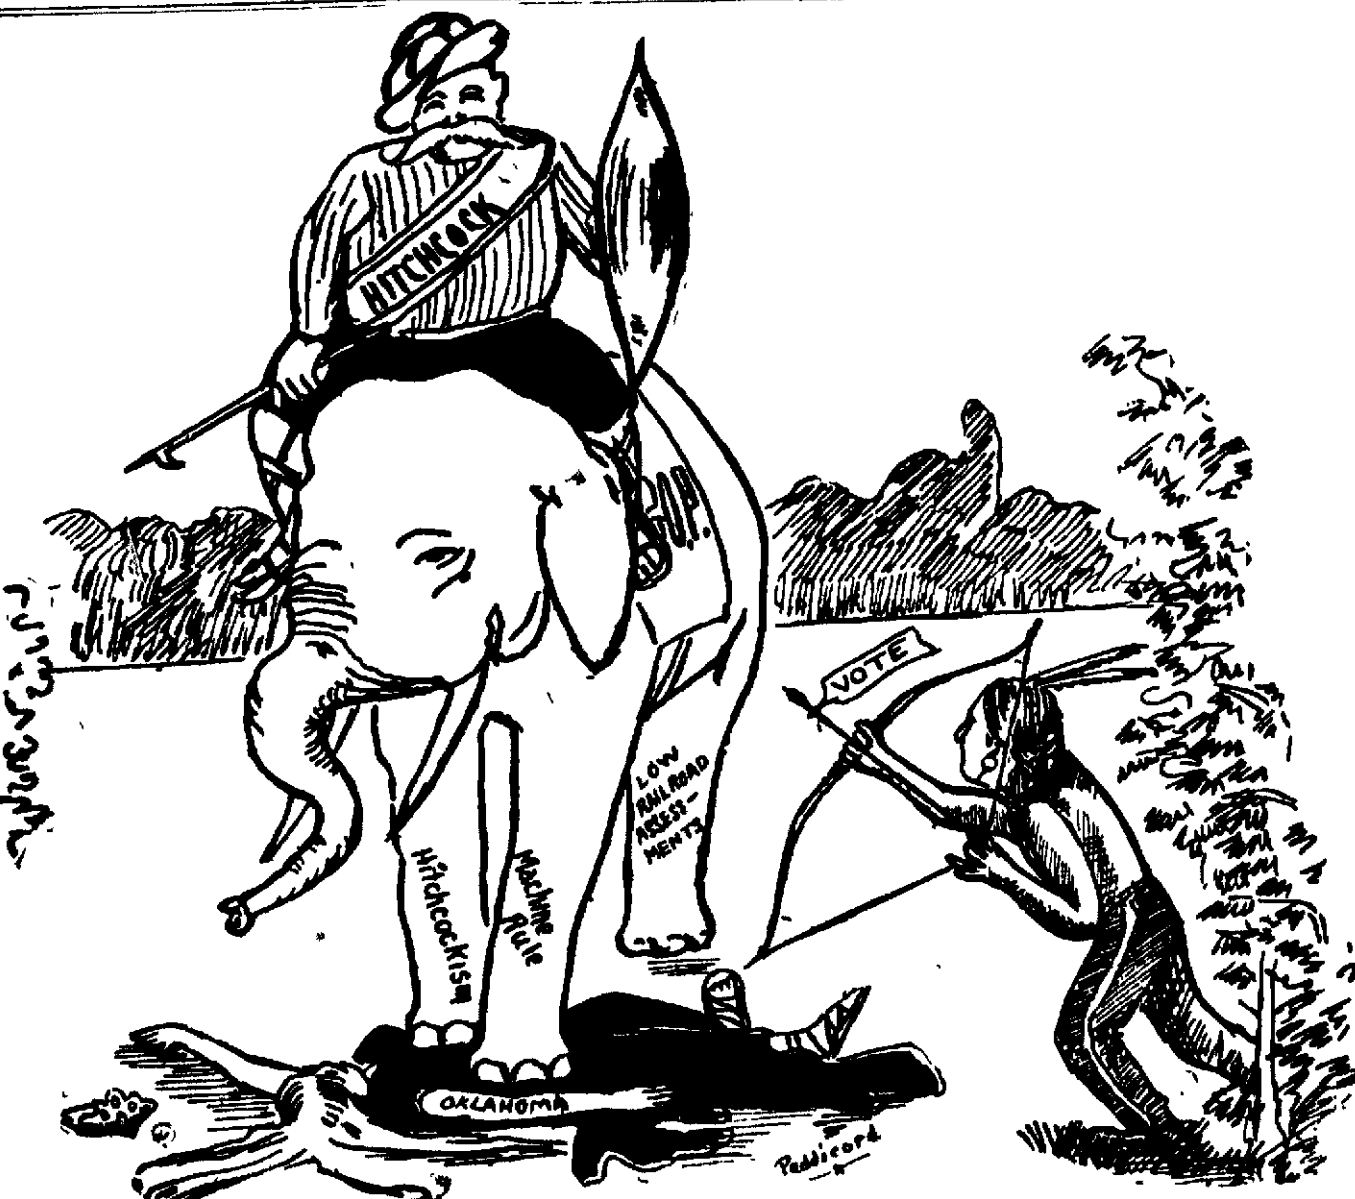

Recommending such, I cheerfully invite and solicit you to make the most complete investigation of my Democracy and all my life's transactions, which might assist you to determine what manner of man I am. In reference to my qualifications to intelligently represent you, the Democracy of this delegate district must judge. I shall come before you in support of the principles I herein advocate, and, in addition, tell you in detail from the stump and in your homes my position on public questions which should be considered in the constitutional convention.

I am and always have been a Democrat, and hold steadfastly to the belief that only by the complete triumph of Democratic principles as taught by Jefferson, defended by Jackson and now advocated by the immaculate Bryan, can this republic a great while longer continue to live; and that only by the strictest adherence to these principles can the people of this Commonwealth, secure to themselves peace, prosperity and happiness. Of course my candidacy for delegate will be subject to the action of the Democratic primaries which will be held in this District.

The support of every honest citizen in this District is respectfully solicited.

Yours obediently,

Sept. 6, 1906. CARLTON WEAVER.

After years of Republican oppression, at the hands of Hitchcock and other ring bosses, the brutality will soon be ended. The justice loving people of the new state are clamoring for a New Deal.

UNION FIXES MINIMUM PRICE OF COTTON AT 11c

Texarkana, Tex., Sept. 6.—The second annual meeting of the National Farmer's Educational and Co-operative Union convened at the City Hall here at 10 o'clock and will continue for three days. The meeting was called to order by National President R. F. Duckworth of Thomaston, Ga. Hon. N. A. Shaw of Texarkana, in behalf of Mayor Stewart, made the address of welcome, which was responded to by D. J. Neil of Texas for the delegates.

A committee on credentials was then appointed, after which the convention engaged in a general discussion of various topics of interest to the organization during the remainder of the forenoon.

At the afternoon session the reports of the credentials committee was adopted unanimously. It shows a total of about 300 delegates, Texas heading the list with sixty.

The states represented are Arkansas, Texas, Louisiana, California, Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia, Indiana, Missouri, Kansas, Kentucky, North Carolina, South Carolina, Mississippi and Indian and Oklahoma Territories. The order claims a membership of 600,000. Following the report of the credentials committee came a discussion by the convention of the condition of the cotton crop throughout the territory represented. These reports show a deterioration of 20 per cent in the crop within the last 20 days, due mainly to insects and excessive rains.

A committee, consisting of Ben, L. Griffin, chairman, of Arkansas; E. A. Calvin, of Texas; Dr. H. P. Hudson, of Tennessee; E. A. Cook, of Alabama, and J. B. Pickett, of South Carolina, was appointed to fix the minimum price for this season's cotton crop.

At a late hour last night the delegates of the National Farmers' Union, by unanimous vote, reaffirmed the minimum price of 11c for middling basis at interior points for this year's cotton crop.

Carlton Weaver Announces.

In response to a formal request of a large number of Democrats presented Saturday, August 7th, that I stand for election to the Constitutional Convention, I replied in last week's issue of the Weekly News and a previous issue of the Daily, informing all interested that there were some contingencies which would likely keep me out of the race. In that article I told the people that there was a serious question as to the logic of my candidacy and practically declined to be a candidate. However, since that time I have been complimented by friendliest expressions from many farmers throughout the district. And such expressions were demanded, for I am frank enough to say that without a generous support from the farming classes of people in this district I would not care to be elected, even if otherwise it were possible. In the main, conditions have so adjusted themselves that I have finally decided to enter the field and make a conscientious campaign over the district. I am sincerely grateful to my friends over the district for their advance offers of support. Very respectfully,
CARLTON WEAVER.

A REPUBLICAN exchange says: "The Democratic party hopes to gain by stirring up strife. The Republican party believes in peace among the people of the new state." Yes, it believes in the peace of pie!

PURCELL DEMOCRATS.

Party Wants Ada's Help in Organizing Their New Precincts.

The president and secretary of the Eighty-sixth constitutional delegate district (Purcell) have sent out a call asking that the local Democrats at Chism, Maxwell and the adjoining townships to the east call meetings to organize Democratic clubs on the following dates: Tuesday, September 11, at 7:30 p. m. at Chism; Wednesday, September 12, at some suitable hour in the afternoon, at Maxwell, and at schoolhouse near Pleas Roberts' place at night.

These precincts are to the northwest of Ada and constitute a part of our Sixteenth recording district. The Democrats in district 86 are well organized except in those precincts mentioned. They earnestly request Democrats of Ada to meet with them on the above dates and help in the organization. Republicans are hoping to carry 86, and it behooves the local Democracy to help our neighbors. As many as can get away next week should attend those meetings. Up there the Democratic primary has been called for September 18, so there is scant time in which to perfect organization and overcome the Republican gerrymander.

PYTHIANS DISPLEASED.

Oppose the Plan for Merging the Two Grand Lodges.

Oklahoma City, Ok. Sept. 6.—The officers of the Indian Territory and Oklahoma Knights of Pythias held a meeting here yesterday and discussed matters pertaining to merging the two lodges. The supreme constitutional committee at New Orleans next month will recommend that when the two territories shall become one state that the supreme chancellor shall declare the two domains dissolved and void, and a new grand lodge will be installed.

This arrangement is not satisfactory to Indian Territory grand lodge, and an effort will be made to alter this provision. It was decided today to send the following delegation to the New Orleans meeting: S. H. Davis, of Davis; J. B. Morrow, of Checotah, I. T.; J. D. Lydick, of Shawnee, and J. E. Shanerfelt, of Oklahoma City.

Restrictions Removed.

The secretary of the interior has approved the applications of the following named persons for the removal of restrictions on the alienation of the lands allotted to them exclusive of their homesteads.

AMERICAN ARTISTS ABROAD.

Their Merit Recognized and Rewarded Earlier Than It Is at Home.

Once more an American artist's picture holds the place of honor at the exhibition of the Royal Academy in London. Sargent has attained that honor; now it is Abbey's turn, with a picture distinctly American in subject, representing Columbus landing in the new world. Several other well-known American artists figure among the notable exhibitors. In the two annual picture shows now open in Paris, the same fact is true, reports the New York World.

American artists frequently complain, as do singers and musicians, that the surest way to distinction at home is recognition abroad. The protest implies that merit is not so readily accepted here as it is in France and England.

The distinction attained by Sargent in London has done more than all his early successes in this country to assure his preeminence. The same may be said to be true of Abbey, although fame came to him easy as an illustrator. Something may be due to the circumstance that for years both have done most of their work abroad. Beyond a doubt, however, art is viewed far more hospitably in Paris and London than in New York. We have yet no art exhibitions that occupy so large a place in popular life as the regular shows of the two foreign capitals.

It is noteworthy also that more contemporary American artists have room in the Luxembourg museum, where living painters must await admission to the Louvre, than in our own Metropolitan. The Paris list counts about 25, among them Whistler, Sargent, Winslow Homer, La Farge, Alexander Harrison, Henry Mosler, Walter MacEwen, Carl Meichers, Miss Cassatt, Edwin L. Weeks and H. O. Tanner.

Under the old management American artists were treated with suspicion at the Metropolitan. It was sometimes difficult to get their works through the museum's doors even as gifts.

Fortunate, all that is being rapidly changed. Sir Purdon Clarke advocates the necessity of building up a representative American collection. Mr. George A. Hearn has donated a large fund, of which the income is reserved for the purchase of American works. It is a curious commentary on American taste that it was not until a foreign director was put in charge of the Metropolitan that American artists were promised something of the same public recognition they receive from the French government.

TURKEY WITH WOODEN LEG

Tale of a Gobbler That Smacks Somewhat of the Munchausen Flavor.

In most communities there are certain persons who possess peculiar characteristics, habits and beliefs, and this is true of the "long shore sportsman of the old Mother State as of persons dwelling elsewhere, says Forest and Stream.

Many of the old time sportsmen still carry and use their muzzle loading guns, which cannot be displaced by more modern arms. They usually manage to bag a good many birds and other game, and this is chiefly due, it is believed, to their knowledge of the habits of the game. They seldom go out without finding something.

A story is told of one gunner who found any of the shot should fall from his hands while loading his gun will at once return home and make no further effort to hunt that day, believing as he says, that those lost were his luck shot, and it would be useless for him to continue the hunt.

Another, whom I will call here Capt. Pete, is a snail and all round sportsman. He loves to tell of his adventures with his dogs and gun, and is seldom seen without them. He tells many stories about the accuracy of Sweet Lips, his gun, and declares he can beat any man "a-shootin' for a turkey in the United States of Virginia."

On the occasion of a turkey hunt near the Rappahannock river Capt. Pete claims to have shot a 40-pound wild turkey, for which he was offered $4 cash. The gray whiskers on the turkey's breast were 18 inches long, and he had one wooden leg. Here Capt. Pete gives a laugh that could be heard a half mile away. "Sar, he was the biggest turkey I ever saw. There were 18 fellows in the bunch of us, and four others besides, and all ate a sumptuous meal from one-half of his breast."

Uncle Pete says he cannot account for that one wooden leg unless that turkey had been previously owned by some one as a pet wild turkey.

Natural Arm Chair.

A gardener in Korea has formed a natural arm-chair by twisting a growing vine to the required shape. It is also studded with seeds of the ginkgo tree, which have grown into the fibers of the vine. After the chair was fashioned in this way it was cut from the ground, dried and polished until it resembled mahogany. It is 8 feet 4 inches high, 25 inches wide and weighs over 200 pounds.

Invited to a coal mine. Lord Northcote, governor general of Australia, was entertained to a banquet in a coal mine at Newcastle, New South Wales. The banquet hall was 300 feet below the surface.

No Student of Shakespeare. "What is your favorite play?" asked the girl who quoted Shakespeare. "Well," answered the youth with long hair, "I believe I like to see a man steal second as well as anything."—Washington Star.

ODD POINT IN AUTO CASE.

Relatives of Victim Held Motorist Who Raised Dust Partly to Blame for Accident.

Paris.—A curious point in an action against a motor car driver came before the judges of the French chamber. It was a question as to whether a chauffeur who had raised dust could be proceeded against for homicide for carelessness.

On May 1 last an automobile passed a cyclist on the road between Melun and Paris. The car raised a cloud of dust, with the result that the cyclist could not see his way. His machine swerved, and he was overtaken by another motor car, which knocked him down and killed him.

Could the driver of the first car, which had raised a cloud of dust, be held responsible for the accident caused by the second car? The case came before the Corbell court, which imposed a fine of $200 on the driver of the second car, besides compelling him to pay $600 compensation. But the driver of the car which caused the dust to fly was acquitted, and his claim for $40 for being unjustifiably prosecuted was allowed against the family of the cyclist who was killed. This decision was appealed against.

BODY GIVEN TO COLLEGE.

Aged Convict's Request Carried Out by Prison Authorities at Michigan City, Ind.

Michigan City, Ind.—The body of the dead life convict, James Blackwood, who was the oldest inmate of the state prison, was taken to the Valparaiso college for dissection by the medical department.

Blackwood died in the prison hospital after serving 18 years behind the prison bars. He had been here since the transfer from Jeffersonville in 1897.

As Blackwood was dying there stood beside his cot James L. Myers, the murderer who was given a pardon by Gov. Hanly. Myers was found praying for the dying convict when the glad tidings of the pardon came to his ears.

Blackwood served 18 years for a murder in Clay county in 1887. All that remains of his family is a son residing in Texas. The son was notified after death, but made no reply.

The crime for which James Blackwood was sentenced occurred while a party was returning from a dance in Benwood, Clay county, to Cardonia. Blackwood quarreled with his wife in the fight which followed the woman was knocked down and sustained four broken ribs. She was wrapped in a bundle of straw and left by the roadside, where she was found in the morning. She died soon after Blackwood pleaded guilty and was sentenced by the late Judge Coffey, of Brazil.

Tapoca Jelly for Invalids.

One cup of tapoca, three cups of cold water, juice of a lemon and a pinch of grated peel. Sweeten to taste. Soak the tapoca in the boiling water for four hours. Set within a saucepan of boiling water, pour more lukewarm water over the tapoca if it has absorbed too much of the liquid, and heat, stirring frequently. If too thick after it begins to clear put in a little boiling water. When quite clear put in sugar and lemon. Pour into molds. Eat cold, with cream flavored with rosewater and sweetened.

Compensation.

"I am sorry," said the doctor, "but your little girl will not be able to speak for several days!" "Then it will be safe," said the anxious mother, "for me to invite the minister to tea, won't it?"—Sketch.

OVERDRAFTS

It is becoming well known by business men that overdrafts, whether large or small, are not approved by the comptroller of the currency. The large central banks allow overdrafts only in a very small way, and this, it matters not how small, is not approved by the powers that be. This unbusinesslike habit of overdrafts grew out of advancing on moving products, such as cotton, grain and fat stock on the move. The overdraft system is wrong and the man whose account is always overdrawn is the man who spends more money than he makes and will finally have no bank account.

AROUND THE BASES

WHEN "HEINE" PEITZ GOT THE WORST OF IT

The recent McGinnity-Peitz battle created much discussion among the Chicago Nationals. While it was pleasing to them in a way as indicative of the irritability of the Giants under defeat, lessening their chances for recovery, they deplore the fight because of its effect on the public. Several players allowed they had been expecting Peitz would provoke some player beyond the limit for some time. Incidentally, there came to light, a verbal contest between Peitz and Manager Chance early this season on the West side, which is the only case on record in which Heine got the worst of it.

Peitz was coaching at first and began kidding Chance to rattle him. "Say, I see you're a real manager now, Frank. How did you manage it?" and other remarks of similar nature were hurled at Chance between Peitz' stereotyped bits of advice to the batter to "make it be good," "look him over," etc. Chance apparently heard none of the gibes and said nothing until he walked over toward his base while a foul was being recovered, when he looked up at Heine in feigned surprise and said: "Why, hello, Heine, are you still with the Pittsburgh team? Dreyfuss was asking for waivers on you a few days in a game at New York, hit Wilkes for two singles, a double and triple; Wagner, on May 30, hit Weltner, of Cincinnati, for two doubles and a triple, and on June 2 Ganley made a single and two triples off Taylor, then pitching for St. Louis. A total of six bases in a game was made by Himes, of St. Louis; Maloney, of Brooklyn; Ward, of Philadelphia; Schulte, of Chicago; Steinfeldt, of Chicago; Clarke, of Pittsburgh; Jordan, of Brooklyn, and Schiel, of Cincinnati.

Of course, the record made by Kling does not for a moment compare with the record of the major leagues. In 1884 Dave Orr, then with the Metropolitans, put the mark at 12 total bases. Two years later, in 1886, Guy Hecker, of Louisville, and Dan Brouthers, of Detroit, raised the figures to 15; Hecker against Pitcher Dick Conway, and Brouthers against Jim McCormick. This mark stood for three years. Larry Twitcheil, of Cleveland, in 1889, hoisted it a notch by hitting Mike Madden for a total of 16 bases.

For five years this was the shining mark, and then Link Lowe, of the Boston team, astonished the baseball world by making a total of 17 bases. He did this on May 30, 1894, in a game at Boston against the Cincinnati, who had Elton Chamberlain in the box. Lowe cracked out four home runs and a single. Two years later, on July 13, 1896, Ed. Deleahanty duplicated the feat. He was a member of the Philadelphia team. In a game at Chicago he hit Bill Terry for four home runs and a single, giving him a total of 17 bases. This is now the world's record and bids fair to remain so for some time to come.

HOWELL'S START AS A PROFESSIONAL PITCHER

When J. C. Chapman owned and managed the Meridan Connecticut league champions, Harry Howell, lived in Brooklyn. He called on Manager Chapman at his residence in that city early in the spring of '98, asking for a job with the Meridan club, and said that he had been told by a number of players that Chapman was always willing to give a

BALL AND BAT NOTES

National League Notes.

Chapple McFarland has been signed by Brooklyn after playing brief engagements with St. Louis and Pittsburgh.

Frank Burke, an outfielder, and James Hannigan, an infielder, of the New Haven team of the Connecticut league, will become members of the Giants at the end of the Connecticut league season.

Pat Livingstone, who was expected to add batting strength to the Reds, as well as catching vigor, is hitting way under .200.

Philadelphia fans are said to be sore at Hughey Duffy for the poor showing of the team. He has done the best he could.

Fred Henney keeps on smiting. He may surprise everyone by butting in to the .300 class as he used to.

A syndicate comprising Samuel Cohen, Eugene Devine and George Thies, St. Louis business men, have been informed that their offer of $150,000 for the St. Louis National league franchise has been refused by the owners, the Messrs. Robison.

Johnny Kling, catcher for the Cubs, has gone to Kansas City in response to a telegram announcing his father's death in that city. Kling's father was 78 years old. Kling's absence will put the entire catching end of the team up to Moran for at least a week.

Spike Shannon's contract with the New Yorks is said to call for $3,000 a year for two years.

Chicago Nationals have a new catcher, Tom Walsh. He is from Davenport, Ia.

"Batty" Abbatichio has refused to return to the game, in spite of a handsome offer by the New York Nationals. He is making gold hand over fist in the hotel business.

American League News.

"Eggie" Lennox, the star third baseman of the Tristate league, has deserted the Lancaster club and signed with the Philadelphia Athletics.

Koehler has covered every position in the St. Louis American's infield. His regular place is in the outfield.

Thomas, Griffith's reserve catcher, seems to be a terrible slugger. In the few games he has so far played he has batted nearly .400.

Harry Davis is not hitting as hard as he did earlier in the season and is just at the .300 mark.

Coombs seems to be quite a pitcher. At least he keeps on winning games.

Willie Keeler is soaking valiantly and bids fair to dispute the batting lead of his league with Stone and Lajoie.

Chase is back in harness and the Highlanders are playing correspondingly strong ball.

Clark Griffith, manager of the Highlanders, is after Pitcher Fred Glade of the St. Louis Browns, and is willing to give Jimmy Williams or Joe Yeager in exchange.

President Charles A. Comiskey of the White Sox announced that he had signed Pitcher Buck Freeman of the Evansville Central league team for next season. Freeman has been doing great work this year, and Jimmy Ryan told Comiskey that he was a coming wonder, and Commy went after him. Last season Freeman won 17 and lost 10 games. He batted .203 and fielded .932 in 35 games.

Hardy, the Washington castoff, is pitching good ball for the Providence club.

Cleveland offered President Coleman $3,000 for Pitcher Liebhart, but failed to land the Memphis wonder.

"Jimmy" Barrett leads the Rochester team in batting, with .324 in ten games.

The Providence club has signed third baseman Storke, of the Amherst college team.

FORTUNES OF STAGE STARS.

Some interesting facts concerning the relation between stage fame and wealth have been brought forward by an English observer. Probate of the will of the late Henry Irving, recently granted to his two sons, caused the investigation to be made. The gross value of the Irving estate was found to be only $102,600.

The size of the Irving fortune, or, rather, its lack of size, caused very general comment, for it was presumed, of course, that the famous English actor had amassed a great estate. What is true in this most recent case, however, has been similarly true of other actors. Although they have received large incomes, seldom at their death have they left large fortunes. They spend money generously, even lavishly, and usually give whenever they are asked to the cause of various charities. It seems, moreover, that it is the custom in the theatrical profession to declare that an actor receives much more than he actually does. This in itself causes him to spend recklessly, for if he would not be considered niggardly he must live up to what the general public believes his income to be.

Among the fortunes left by members of the theatrical profession have been those of:

- William Barrett, aged 57, left $2,000 for charities.
- Lady Martin (Helen Faucit), aged 82, left $150,000.
- Edwin Booth, aged 59, left $120,000.
- Sir Augustus Harris, aged 44, left $115,000.
- William James Lewin (William Terrance), aged 59, left $65,000.
- Frederick Hobson (Fred Leslie), aged 57, left $80,000.
- George Wild Galvin (Dan Leno), aged 45, said to have earned £150 a week and probably did earn for some time £100 a week.
- Herbert Edward Storey (Herbert Campbell), aged 51, left $20,000.
- William Rignold, aged 58, left $20,000.
- Mme. Goldschmidt (Jenny Lind), aged 67, left $200,000.
- Ernest Dinard (Ernest Nicollino), aged 62, the famous operatic tenor singer, left $200,000.
- Richard Corney Grain, aged 50, left $80,000.
- Frederick Burgess, aged 67 (Moore and Burgess' minstrels), left $50,000.
- Frederick Charles Hengler, aged 67, circus proprietor, left $25,000.
- Frederick Gimnet, aged 57, circus proprietor, left $150,000.
- Frederick William Sanger, circus proprietor, left $5,000.

The estate of Richard D'Oyly Carte, aged 56, of the Savoy theater, was sworn for probate at $1,200,000, probably the largest sum ever left by a public entertainer.

THE ART OF MIMICRY.

Elsie Janis Says It is a Gift Which Needs Much Cultivation.

"It isn't easy to become a successful mimic. It is far less easy to tell how to be one," says Elsie Janis, who is starring in the "Vanderbilt Cup."

"Many people have an idea that mimicry is a gift, that no training is required for it, and that if a man or woman can exaggerate the conspicuous walk or speech or mannerism of some friend he or she is a full-fledged mimic and open for a vaudeville engagement."

"Nothing could be farther from the truth. Mimicry valuable enough to be used professionally is a gift, it is true, but it is a gift which must be discovered early in childhood and cultivated assiduously, with unremitting practice to make it of any use to the owner."

"There is nothing living in the world that is not a conscious or unconscious mimic. Insects, butterflies, snakes, birds and many animals change their color or shape to resemble other objects in order to protect themselves from attack. Parrots and monkeys are notorious mimics, while all the training of trick animals is simply the development of their power of mimicry."

"The training of a human being from its infancy to its grave is founded upon this power. Why do you wear shirtwaists buttoned in the back one week and Peter Pans the next, or change your coiffure from pompadour to part and back again? Because you wish to mimic other people."

"The successful professional mimic must have flexible facial muscles and have perfect control of the muscles of the throat and vocal organs. These things can only be acquired when the muscles are undeveloped and soft. Therefore the successful mimic must begin training early in childhood."

"The mimic is pre-eminently a maker of faces. So if you have a small girl who persists in making faces, to your great mortification, do not discourage her until you have studied her carefully and decided whether or not she has powers of mimicry that may make her livelihood."

"To strike the personal note, which I know is pardonable, this is the way I began to be a mimic. I never can remember the time when I didn't make faces, but I can remember quite distinctly the scoldings I used to get for doing so when I was a little child. Finally a good angel in the shape of a family friend advised that I be allowed to follow my propensity for face making and mimicry people, and then I was happy. From that time to this I have never stopped practicing."

"My favorite imitation? Really, do you want to know that? Well, although I am awfully fond of the whole lot, I think Ethel Barrymore is my favorite. She has so many quaint and delicious little mannerisms that I never cease enjoying their depiction."

HAS HIS MANAGER PICKED.

Eddie Foy and His Play Were First Considerations.

Eddie Foy strolled up the Great White Way in a jubilant frame of mind the other day.

"Hello, Eddie," a friend said, saluting him. "Why so debonaire?"

"I'm going to star next season, that's all. The piece is a musical comedy just copyrighted and it's written by an actor, John D. Gilbert, and it's called 'The Wild and Woolly Way.'"

"My name in the play is a regular appetite breaker, Plankington Shadd. He's an actor man who turns up in a new western country like Oklahoma on the day when the legislature meets for the first time."

"Those first time legislators have been having a blowup and they've killed all the editors in town—seven of them. There has to be an editor, so they make one out of Mr. Plankington Shadd."

"There's where the complications come in. Can you see me as an editor? It's great!"

"And who is going to manage you?" Mr. Foy was asked.

"Oh, I ain't bothering about managers," was Eddie's answer. "I've got that fixed all right."

And Mr. Foy searched off jubilant.

WHEN YOU'RE CANNING BERRIES

Proportions to Use—The Cooking and Filling of the Bottles.

Allow three pints of fruit for the filling of one quart jar. Look over the berries carefully, and if any imperfect ones appear, do not hesitate to throw them to one side. Into your porcelain kettle put one cupful of white sugar and just enough water to start the berries cooking, and as soon as the sugar is melted, add your berries. Cover, and watch carefully, and as soon as they reach the boiling point remove the kettle from the fire, filling the jar to within one-eighth of an inch of the top, filling this space with berries dipped from the juice. Wipe all juice from the top of the can, adjust the rubber (it is well to put the rubber on before filling) and screw on the lid as tight as possible. Invert the can and let remain thus for a few minutes; examine, and if any should be found leaking around the lid, take a small hammer or knife-handle and pound all around the edge of the lid, especially pounding down where the leak appears, taking pains to have the striking done on the lid and rubber alone. Repeat this, until no leak appears, then let the jars stand, inverted, until perfectly cool, advises a writer in the home department of The Commoner. If the jar continues to leak, open, empty the contents, reheat, and try another lid; or it may be the rubber that is at fault, but generally, the lid is ill-fitting. Wrap the cans in thick paper when putting them away, as the light affects the color of some fruits, and spoils the flavor of others.

One of the very best helps in canning time is a steam cooker; or an old-fashioned steamer is just as good. The jars may be filled with the uncooked fruit, the top put on loosely and steamed until hot through, filling part of the jars with the contents of others, as the berries settle down when heated. The same care must be taken to have the fruit "boiling hot" in the jar as when canning by cooking it in a kettle. It keeps its "looks" much better when canned by steam, and does not so much as lose its shape. When cooked thus, no water is added to the fruit when the jar is filled—the fruit, aided by the steam, will make its own juice. The water under the steamer or in the cooker must be boiling briskly when the jars are set in, and it must not be allowed to cease from boiling while the jars are inside. It is the steam which cooks, and there must be plenty of it.

ABOUT GLASS IN THE BATHROOM

Glass Appointments Are Not Necessarily Expensive and Are Ideal.

Many a bathroom is fitted out with glass appointments—shelves and racks (the long bars held in place by trimmings of nickel), soap cups and the "little fixings," all of glass. Even the wooden window sills in an occasional bathroom are removed and a heavy glass shelf substituted, says the Chicago Chronicle.

Fortunately, glass of the quality used for such purposes is not necessarily expensive, although, as in everything else, the question of how much it shall cost really depends upon the individual buyer.

Bowls and cooking spoons of glass—heavy, but almost unbreakable with ordinary handling—are so satisfactory, by virtue of their cleanliness, that the woman who tries either or both instantly becomes a convert to their use. Perhaps the most unusual glass-made piece of all is a rolling-pin, hollow, and so made that it can be opened and the hollow filled with cracked ice, when working with pastry, which must be kept well chilled, even during the rolling process.

Great slabs of glass make the best sort of pie and bread boards.

To Clean Matting.

To clean matting it should be first swept thoroughly with a stiff broom, then swept across the grain with a soft broom that has been dipped in warm water in which a handful of salt has been dissolved. Nothing brightens colored matting so much as the salt and, moreover, it goes far to prevent it fading. The light-colored matting should be washed in water in which borax has been dissolved. If any grease spots are noticed before the matting is cleansed cover them with a mixture of prepared chalk wet with turpentine, which, after being allowed to remain on for two days, should be removed with a stiff brush. In the event of the grease having sunk in about one-eighth of washing soda added to the mixture will be effectual. Sweet milk is said to keep the matting in a good state of preservation and it is only necessary to use the application about once a year.

To Shrink Linen.

For shrinking linen the following instructions have been found to be very satisfactory: First, after a bathtub has been carefully dusted fill it about quarter full with clear cold water. It should be first filtered if it is at all dark or cloudy. Then, leaving the linen in its folds, wrap it in a clean towel and allow it to remain in the water over night. When taken out in the morning do not wring the water from it, but leaving it still folded hang it up dripping. It will take some time to dry, but the material will be thoroughly shrunken and will not need to be pressed.

So Rugs Won't Curl.

Strips of stiff buckram sewed along the edges of rugs will prevent them curling up.

To Keep Away Rust.

A good blacking will protect the heating stoves from summer dampness, which so quickly generates rust.

CHRISTOPHER MATTHEWSON
PITCHER OF THE NEW YORK
IN L. CLUB

ago." Peitz shut up like a clam for the rest of the day and spent his time wondering if Chance was kidding or, being a club manager, telling the truth.

REMARKABLE FEATS OF PLAYERS WITH THE BAT

The other day Fred Tenny, of the Boston Nationals, succeeded in making four hits in a game. This is a rare feat, considering the number of games played and the army of players taking part in them. It has been accomplished only 22 times this season. Twice this season five hits per game have been made, by Schulte of Chicago, and by Clarke, of Pittsburgh. Schulte got his five hits off Taylor and Ferguson in a game at New York on June 6. Clarke hit four times safely in a ten-inning game at Philadelphia on June 11. These are the best records of the number of hits made this season, but they are not the best in the matter of total bases. Schulte and Clarke each had a double among their five hits, giving each a total of six bases.

The best record of the season is a total of nine bases, made by Catcher Kling, of the Chicago team. In a game on May 18 at Chicago he had a double, a triple and a home run off Nicholas and McCloskey, of the Philadelphia team. The next heaviest individual batting was done by Ward, of Philadelphia; Wagner, of Pittsburgh; and Ganley, of Pittsburgh, each of whom made a total of seven bases in a game. On April 27 Ward young player a start if he thought the youngster had the right stuff in him to make a good showing. He also said that he had no bad habits and that he had played on the Prospect Parade ball grounds, Brooklyn, for a couple of years with the "grass eaters" clubs, who had turned out some good players, and that in the back yard of his home he had paced off the pitching distance and painted a large target with a bull's eye on a large plank and practiced pitching every clear morning, and that he had become so perfect that he could hit the bull's eye some mornings nine times out of ten pitched balls, and sometimes he had broken the plank in halves with his speedy ones and had to go for more timber.

Chapman did not know what to make of the lad after telling his story, but as he had an intelligent face and looked to be of powerful build, he thought he might turn out to be some good with a little good handling, so he asked him how much he wanted to go to Meridan.

"Will $45 be too much, Mr. Chapman?" Howell asked.

"Well, that is a little high," said the manager, "but I'll give it to you."

So Howell went to Meridan, but when he found out he could "fan" the Connecticut leaguers he ran away because he wanted more money. Some of the older players swelled him up, of course. However, Chapman satisfied him and brought him back, and he finished the season in good shape, and his manager did all possible in pushing him into faster company.

Declaration of Principles of Carlton Weaver

Candidate for Delegate to the Constitutional Convention From District 87

To the Voters of the Eighty-seventh Constitutional Delegate District:
Since I have entered the race for delegate to the constitutional convention, I consider it my bounden duty to proclaim where I stand in support of principles vital in importance to the people of this country at this time.

I believe our constitution should deal with fundamental principles of government; with ordinances and provisions of a permanent nature, those essential to life and property. To these, most conscientious and intelligent attention must be given.

The constitution will include a Bill of Rights, in which there should be written those political truths already worked out in the progressive history of representative government. These fundamental principles and proven political truths should be planted so deeply and intelligently into the foundation of our state's government that the absolute guarantee is given to the citizen, that every right and opportunity necessary to his peace, prosperity and happiness shall irrevocably be his for all time.

In constructing a constitution the people should differentiate between state organic law or constitutional requirements and statutory enactments.

The people will remember that state legislatures may pass any law that the federal constitution or its own state constitution does not prohibit. And that the national congress may only pass such laws as it is permitted to pass by the federal constitution. There should not be too much included in the constitution, but it must, most positively, be seen to that it does not lack anything or contain anything, so that in the coming legislatures of the state it will ever occur, that the people's desires will be frustrated by the dictum: "Unconstitutional."

But my fellow citizens, in this day of Commercialism, when predatory wealth has such a glutinous hand at the throats of the people, and organized greed is so firmly entrenched, and the gates of wicked opportunity are opened so wide to the grafters, there are several questions of transcendent importance that must not wait for possibly corrupt legislatures to pass upon.

I respectfully submit to you my views on some of these vital questions, and, in the event you sustain them by sending me to the constitutional convention, I shall struggle with all the strength of my being, to secure their enactment into an intelligent and effective law.

INITIATIVE AND REFERENDUM.

That government which stays closest to the people is the most ideal and less apt to get beyond control. Therefore the initiative and referendum is the best safeguard against the government getting beyond the reach of the people. I would advocate these principles because they give to the people the right to initiate, accept or reject legislation. These principles would serve as a death blow to the lobbyist's corrupting influence, which has proved such a menace to equitable and just legislation.

FREE SCHOOLS

I need not emphasize the many virtues of a free school system. The citizenship of tomorrow depends upon the educational advantages of today. I would strive with all the ardor of my being, to have the constitution guarantee to every child of the state, howsoever poor, the very best school advantages. To that end I would favor establishing and maintaining, for as long a period as possible, in each year, a free school system. The state should manufacture and furnish free, or at cost, uniform school books, by this means breaking the shackles of the text book trust.

SCHOOL FUND.

Some estimate that Oklahoma will own practically fifty million dollars for school purposes. This should be zealously guarded. If handled judiciously it will guarantee a perpetual school fund. I would favor a bonded school-land commission, elected by the people, to see that this fund is not in any way misappropriated. I would favor investing the five million dollars given to the state for a permanent school fund in the very best county, state, municipal and school district bonds, provided same cannot be invested in coal lands as hereinbelow advocated. I would also advocate the retention of all school lands now owned by the state; and that the revenues from these lands, together with the interest derived from the above mentioned five million dollars shall constitute the available school funds of the state.

COAL LANDS.

In this connection I would advocate, above all, the appointment of a commission to negotiate with the Indian tribes and federal government for the coal lands, exclusively for school purposes. This commission to be empowered to appropriate the five million dollar school fund, or any part thereof, in obtaining said coal lands. This would be an ideal investment; because, first, it would prevent the railroads from owning and operating said mines and controlling the price of coal (cheap fuel inevitably resulting). Second, the revenues derived from said lands would vastly enrich the state school fund.

In the event the state should obtain possession of the coal lands, I would favor dealing separately with the surface, dividing same into homesteads and town lots and offering same for sale, giving parties residing thereon the preference right of purchase.

CORPORATIONS AND TRUSTS.

The constitution should contain an iron clad anti-trust provision. There should be a corporation commission, elected by the people, such commission to be empowered to exercise all necessary supervision of corporations, including railroads; to see that corporation charters are obeyed to the letter; that rebates and discriminations do not occur without just punishment; to compel, by the aid of the courts, strict obedience of the laws enacted for the protection of patrons, employees and honest competition. I would favor a clause which shall forever put a check to immunity pleas of individual members of law-breaking corporations.

I would favor not only fining the abstract corporation, for violation of the anti-trust law, but the imprisonment of promoters of all criminal corporations.

The constitution should forbid any railroad or other corporation to do more than acquire an easement on any land, and then only on such land as is necessary to furnish right of way, station grounds, or for shops or for some other necessary department of the corporation. And should the corporation abandon its legitimate business, or have its charter forfeited, then the use and occupancy of said land shall revert to the original grantor, or his heirs or assigns.

FREE TRANSPORTATION.

The constitution should make it a criminal offense, punishable by imprisonment, for any public official to use or cause to be used free transportation from any corporation doing business in the state.

FACTORY AND MINE INSPECTION.

The constitution should provide for factory and mine inspection; state inspectors to be men who know from actual experience or training how to ascertain and correct abuses, so often prevalent in factory and mine.

CHILD LABOR.

I am opposed to the youth of our land being prematurely employed in the mines and factories. There should be a constitutional provision protecting the boys and girls of the state in this respect.

FELLOW SERVANT LAW.

I favor a just and equitable fellow servant law. Common justice dictates that an employer should be responsible for the neglect or carelessness of any agency which he puts into operation or service; just as an employer is responsible for damages that occur from bad machinery, just so he should be held to liability for all damages that result from careless and incompetent laborers. Furthermore, the right of action to recover damages for injury or death should never be abrogated and the amount recoverable should never be subject to any statutory limitation.

RIGHT HOURS.

The labor party should be respected in their demand that eight hours shall constitute a day's work in all underground mines and all works carried on by the state, county or municipal government. When a man works the year 'round, eight hours is enough.

REMOVAL OF RESTRICTIONS.

I believe the constitutional convention should memorialize congress to remove all the restrictions from all the lands of the tribal citizens except the homestead of full bloods, and to take from the Secretary of the Interior the control of the full bloods, and permit the proper courts of Oklahoma to exercise jurisdiction over them in the matter of the removal of his homestead restrictions.

LAND MONOPOLY.

No corporation, whatsoever, should be permitted to buy and hold land for profit. The great mass of industrious farmers of our state should own and control the land interest, and the constitution should provide that no corporation, company or individual shall hoard up lands for speculative purposes. Nothing should deter Oklahoma becoming a land of many homes, and to that end my very best intelligence and most conscientious efforts would be pledged to secure a suitable enactment looking to the dethronement of the land and lease grafter.

ALIEN LAND LAW.

There should be incorporated into our state structure an alien land law. Foreign corporations and capitalists should not be permitted to gobble up the land of our state thereby destroying the opportunity of our people to own homes.

A friend remarked that a country not good enough for aliens to live in, is too good to steal in. That is true.

GOOD ROADS.

A good road system is a monument to industry and thrift. If ever a people needed and deserved good roads, those of the Indian Territory section of the new state do. If elected your delegate I will with all the energy and capability I possess, work toward the end of establishing and maintaining good roads. The constitution should make it mandatory upon the legislature to establish a road system.

CONVICT LABOR.

Convicts commit crime against the state and their labor should, as far as possible, redound to the public benefit. I hold that convict labor should be employed altogether on public works, unless in time of emergency. I am unalterably opposed to convict labor competing with honest labor. The states of Kentucky, Tennessee, the Carolinas, Georgia and Texas make the most extensive use of their convicts at road building. This manner of road construction in these and other states range from sixteen to sixty cents per day. I believe that utilizing convict labor on the public roads will lessen the burden of taxation—certainly not an objectionable result.

TRANSFER OF CONVICTS.

If it can be done economically, I favor having transferred as soon as practicable, all able bodied Oklahoma and Indian Territory convicts from the northern prisons, said convicts to be employed on public roads where they are most needed.

TAXES.

I believe that the part of the state now known as Indian Territory, which will enter statehood existence free of debt, should have established for all purposes per year a maximum tax rate, which should apply alike to the Oklahoma Territory part of the state when the counties included in that division should become free of debt. It is difficult to determine at this time just what such rate should be, but certainly not greater than the tax rate in any other agricultural state of like financial strength and with respectable credit. I would advocate the most conscientious attitude in providing only for the most economical government. The building of luxurious statehouses and expensive courthouses should be discouraged. Every citizen between the ages of twenty-one and forty-five years should pay a poll tax. This should be applied to the common school fund.

INTANGIBLE ASSET LAW.

I would favor an intangible asset law closely akin if not identical to that of Texas. I have not yet mastered that law but it has been named as exceptionally strong by the best Democratic thought.

BOARD OF EQUALIZATION.

HOMESTEAD EXEMPTIONS.

Homestead and other exemption laws are essential to the protection of the mother and children. These are our first creditors. I would favor a liberal exemption law of both country and urban homes. Farming implements and household furniture should be exempt. The homestead should not be mortgaged or otherwise incumbered for any other purpose than for purchase money or for money expended for improvements.

INTEREST RATES.

A clause governing rates of interest should be adopted. Good authorities advocate ten per cent as a maximum amount for interest charged upon notes, and six per cent as a regular legal rate upon open accounts and all indebtedness where the rate is not agreed upon and reduced to writing. A violator of this law, whether direct or indirect, should forfeit the interest charged and suffer in addition to this an appropriate punishment.

INJUNCTIONS.

Many courts of the land have abused their right to issue injunctions. The Colorado scandal is a shameful monument to this abuse. I would earnestly advocate that the state constitution shall restrict the power of the courts to issue injunctions.

BUCKET SHOPS.

The price of farm products should not be influenced by the operation of stock gamblers. And there should be a constitutional provision prohibiting it.

ELECTIONS.

Holding steadfastly to the principles of Democracy, I would advocate the establishment of a blanket primary election law, by which the people may directly express their preference for all public servants.

RIGHT OF RECALL.

If you should employ an attorney or an agent to serve you in any capacity you have a right to discharge him when he ceases to do this. I advocate that the people should have the same right in relation to their public servants. I think the constitution should stand for the right of recall.

THE RACE QUESTION.

Unquestionably it is the unanimous decision of all Democrats and gentlemen in this delegate district that there should always be an absolute social segregation of the negro from the Indian and whites. Of course, I would favor separate schools, separate coaches and separate waiting rooms.

I believe with all my heart that no man should ever dare to ask the people for a position of trust when he does not fully take them into his confidence. He should tell them frankly his views concerning all public questions. Therefore, I have written briefly what my humble judgment tells me should be included in the constitution of Oklahoma. I recognize to the fullest possible extent that the construction of a constitution is not a child's job. Oily, seductive representatives of "special interests" will be there. One's every moral infirmity and character degeneracy will be quickly ascertained. There will be the allurements of wine and the dazzle of gold. Every art known to man will be practiced to cajole the delegates to wrong.

These menaces to our government, to you and your children, do not even wait till the convention meets to practice their hellish designs. Wherever tenable, they are now assisting in the selection of delegates to the constitutional convention.

Is it not well, and more, a sacred duty, to scrutinize closely the record of every candidate for this sacred trust?

Does not home protection, love for wife and children demand that you select a man of unassailable integrity for your delegate?

Recommending such, I cheerfully invite and solicit you to make the most complete investigation of my Democracy and all my life's transactions, which might assist you to determine what manner of man I am. In reference to my qualifications to intelligently represent you, the Democracy of this delegate district must judge. I shall come before you in support of the principles I herein advocate, and, in addition, tell you in detail from the stump and in your homes my position on public questions which should be considered in the constitutional convention.

I am and always have been a Democrat, and hold steadfastly to the belief that only by the complete triumph of Democratic principles as taught by Jefferson, defended by Jackson and now advocated by the immaculate Bryan, can this republic a great while longer continue to live; and that only by the strictest adherence to these principles can the people of this Commonwealth, secure to themselves peace, prosperity and happiness. Of course my candidacy for delegate will be subject to the action of the Democratic primaries which will be held in this District.

The support of every honest citizen in this District is respectfully solicited.

Yours obediently,

Sept. 6, 1906. CARLTON WEAVER.

After years of Republican oppression, at the hands of Hitchcock and other ring bosses, the brutality will soon be ended. The justice loving people of the new state are clamoring for a New Deal.

UNION FIXES MINIMUM PRICE OF COTTON AT 11c

Texarkana, Tex., Sept. 6.—The second annual meeting of the National Farmer's Educational and Co-operative Union convened at the City Hall here at 10 o'clock and will continue for three days. The meeting was called to order by National President R. F. Duckworth of Thomaston, Ga. Hon. N. A. Shaw of Texarkana, in behalf of Mayor Stewart, made the address of welcome, which was responded to by D. J. Neil of Texas for the delegates. A committee on credentials was then appointed, after which the convention engaged in a general discussion of various topics of interest to the organization during the remainder of the forenoon.

At the afternoon session the reports of the credentials committee was adopted unanimously. It shows a total of about 300 delegates, Texas heading the list with sixty.

The states represented are Arkansas, Texas, Louisiana, California, Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia, Indiana, Missouri, Kansas, Kentucky, North Carolina, South Carolina, Mississippi and Indian and Oklahoma Territories. The order claims a membership of 800,000.

Following the report of the credentials committee came a discussion by the convention of the condition of the cotton crop throughout the territory represented. These reports show a deterioration of 20 per cent in the crop within the last 20 days, due mainly to insects and excessive rains.

A committee, consisting of Ben. L. Griffin, chairman, of Arkansas; E. A. Calvin, of Texas; Dr. H. P. Hudson, of Tennessee; E. A. Cook, of Alabama, and J. B. Pickett, of South Carolina, was appointed to fix the minimum price for this season's cotton crop.

At a late hour last night the delegates of the National Farmers' Union, by unanimous vote, reaffirmed the minimum price of 11c for middling basis at interior points for this year's cotton crop.

CARLTON WEAVER

Carlton Weaver Announces.

In response to a formal request of a large number of Democrats presented Saturday, August 7th, that I stand for election to the Constitutional Convention, I replied in last week's issue of the Weekly News and a previous issue of the Daily, informing all interested that there were some contingencies which would likely keep me out of the race. In that article I told the people that there was a serious question as to the logic of my candidacy and practically declined to be a candidate. However, since that time I have been complimented by friendliest expressions from many farmers throughout the district. And such expressions were demanded, for, I am frank enough to say, that without a generous support from the farming classes of people in this district I would not care to be elected, even if otherwise it were possible. In the main, conditions have so adjusted themselves that I have finally decided to enter the field and make a conscientious campaign over the district. I am sincerely grateful to my friends over the district for their advance offers of support. Very respectfully, CARLTON WEAVER.

A REPUBLICAN exchange says: "The Democratic party hopes to gain by stirring up strife. The Republican party believes in peace among the people of the new state." Yes, it believes in the peace of pie!

For the fourteenth time a legislative body over in Australia has voted down woman suffrage. But that is no discouragement to woman's persistency.

AND the Rothschilds are going to invest some of their vast wealth in a new daily newspaper in Paris. France is not reputed a good field for the modern newspaper. If the venture in Paris should eat up their millions too fast, they might try it in Ada.

Editor Q. D. Gibbs, of Mill Creek, was in the city today.

PURCELL DEMOCRATS.

Party Wants Ada's Help in Organizing Their New Precincts.

The president and secretary of the Eighty-sixth constitutional delegate district (Purcell) have sent out a call asking that the local Democrats at Chism, Maxwell and the adjoining townships to the east call meetings to organize Democratic clubs on the following dates: Tuesday, September 11, at 7:30 p. m. at Chism; Wednesday, September 12, at some suitable hour in the afternoon, at Maxwell, and at schoolhouse near Pleas Roberts' place at night.

These precincts are to the northwest of Ada and constitute a part of our Sixteenth recording district. The Democrats in district 86 are well organized except in those precincts mentioned. They earnestly request Democrats of Ada to meet with them on the above dates and help in the organization. Republicans are hoping to carry 86, and it behooves the local Democracy to help our neighbors. As many as can get away next week should attend those meetings. Up there the Democratic primary has been called for September 18, so there is scant time in which to perfect organization and overcome the Republican gerrymander.

PYTHIANS DISPLEASED.

Oppose the Plan for Merging the Two Grand Lodges.

Oklahoma City, Ok. Sept. 6.—The officers of the Indian Territory and Oklahoma Knights of Pythias held a meeting here yesterday and discussed matters pertaining to merging the two lodges. The supreme constitutional committee at New Orleans next month will recommend that when the two territories shall become one state that the supreme chancellor shall declare the two domains dissolved and void, and a new grand lodge will be installed.

This arrangement is not satisfactory to Indian Territory grand lodge, and an effort will be made to alter this provision. It was decided today to send the following delegation to the New Orleans meeting: S. H. Davis, of Davis, J. B. Morrow, of Chetcootah, I. T. J. D. Lydick, of Shawnee, and J. E. Shanellet, of Oklahoma City.

Restrictions Removed.

The secretary of the interior has approved the applications of the following named persons for the removal of restrictions on the alienation of the lands allotted to them exclusive of their homesteads.

Chickaw—Nannie Landrum, Fossil, I. T.

Creeks, Albert Moore, Stidham, I. T. Toke Belcher, Eufala, Emma (nee Williams) Copprie, Bixby.

Prospectors Here.

A party consisting of the following, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Kerr, Geo. A. Woodruff, James Suggs, David Rogger, John Knowlton and two others, whose names we were unable to learn, have arrived in the city from El Dorado, Mo., on a prospecting trip.

New Hotel.

Mrs. S. E. Chapman recently leased the Commercial hotel building and has reopened it as a strictly first class hostelry. The house has been thoroughly renovated from basement to garret, and patrons of the house will find home like treatment at all times. 140 St.

Frisco Special Train Excursion

to Sulphur Springs, I. T., Sept. 16th, 1906. Rate is $1.00 for the round trip. Train leaves Ada at 10:08 a. m. Returning train leaves Sulphur Springs at 6:30 p. m. I. McNair, Agent, Ada, I. T.

Frisco Low Rates.

Commencing August 26th, we will sell until October 31st, tickets at very low rates to points in California, Arizona, Nevada, New Mexico, Old Mexico and Texas. Call and get particulars. I. McNair, Agent, Ada, I. T.

Warning Order.

All householders and owners of vacant lots in Ada are warned that they must comply with the ordinance and cut the weed on their premises and the sidewalks and alleys adjacent thereto. I have imperative orders from the mayor, and unless the ordinance is complied with at once, I positively will arrest all violators and bring them before the mayor's court. 142 St. LEM MITCHELL, Marshal.

To the Public.

I respectfully notify the public that I have accepted a position with the O. B. Weaver, Fire Insurance Agency, and I earnestly solicit on behalf of this substantial fire agency the insurance patronage of my friends. The strongest company in the world and others just as safe are represented by this agency. R. O. WHEELER.

Steals Fire From the Mind.

Malaria steals fire from the mind and vigor from the limbs unless you take Dr. Mendenhall's Chill and fever cure to give yourself new vim. Better than quinine and does not affect the head. Pleasant to take. If you do not like it better than any other Chill Tonic G. M. Ramsey, Druggist, will pay your money back.

To the Insuring Public:

I am pleased to inform you that my fire insurance agency has secured the very competent services of Mr. R. O. Wheeler. His connection with the agency is a further guarantee that all business entrusted will always receive careful and prompt attention. Respectfully, OTIS B. WEAVER, Fire Insurance Agent.

AMERICAN ARTISTS ABROAD.

Their Merit Recognized and Rewarded Earlier Than It Is at Home.

Once more an American artist's picture holds the place of honor at the exhibition of the Royal Academy in London. Sargent had attained that honor; now it is Abbey's turn, with a picture distinctly American in subject, representing Columbus landing in the new world. Several other well-known American artists figure among the notable exhibitors. In the two annual picture shows now open in Paris, the same fact is true, reports the New York World.

American artists frequently complain, as do singers and musicians, that the surest way to distinction at home is recognition abroad. The protest implies that merit is not so readily accepted here as merit is in France and England.

The distinction attained by Sargent in London has done more than all his early successes in this country to assure his preeminence. The same may be said to be true of Abbey, although fame came to him easy as an illustrator. Something may be due to the circumstance that for years both have done most of their work abroad. Beyond a doubt, however, art is viewed far more hospitably in Paris and London than in New York. We have yet no art exhibitions that occupy so large a place in popular life as the regular shows of the two foreign capitals.

It is noteworthy also that more contemporary American artists have room in the Luxembourg museum, where living painters must await admission to the Louvre, than in our own Metropolitan. The Paris list counts about 35, among them Whistler, Sargent, Winslow Homer, La Farge, Alexander Harrison, Henry Mosler, Walter MacEwen, Carl Melchers, Miss Cassatt, Edwin L. Weeks and H. O. Tanner.

Under the old management American artists were treated with suspicion at the Metropolitan. It was sometimes difficult to get their works through the museum's doors even as gifts.

Fortunate, all that is being rapidly changed. Sir Purdon Clarke advocates the necessity of building up a representative American collection. Mr. George A. Hearn has donated a large fund, of which the income is reserved for the purchase of American works. It is a curious commentary on American taste that it was not until a foreign director was put in charge of the Metropolitan that American artists were promised something of the same public recognition they receive from the French government.

TURKEY WITH WOODEN LEG.

Tale of a Gobbler That Smacks Something of the Munchausen Flavor.

In most communities there are certain persons who possess peculiar characteristics, habits and beliefs, and this is true of the "long shore sportsman" of the old Mother State as of persons dwelling elsewhere, says Forest and Stream.

Many of the old time sportsmen still carry and use their muzzle loading guns, which cannot be displaced by more modern arms. They usually manage to bag a good many birds and other game, and this is chiefly due, it is believed, to their knowledge of the habits of the game. They seldom go out without finding something.

A story is told of one gunner who of any of the shot should fall from his hands while loading his gun will at once return home and make no further effort to hunt that day, believing as he says, that those lost were his luck shot, and it would be useless for him to continue the hunt.

Another, whom I will call here Capt. Pete, is a sailor and all round sportsman. He loves to tell of his adventures with his dogs and gun, and is seldom seen without them. He tells many stories about the accuracy of Sweet Lips, his gun, and declares he can beat any man "a-shootin' for a turkey in the United States of Virginia."

On the occasion of a turkey hunt near the Rappahannock river Capt. Pete claims to have shot a 40-pound wild turkey, for which he was offered $4 cash. The gray whiskers on the turkey's breast were 18 inches long, and he had one wooden leg. Here Capt. Pete gives a laugh that could be heard a half mile away. "Sar, he was the biggest turkey I ever saw. There were 18 fellows in the bunch of us, and four others besides, and all ate a sumptuous meal from one-half of his breast."

Uncle Pete says he cannot account for that one wooden leg unless that turkey had been previously owned by some one as a pet wild turkey.

Natural Arm Chair.

A gardener in Korea has formed a natural arm-chair by twisting a growing vine to the required shape. It is also studded with seeds of the ginkgo tree, which have grown into the fibers of the vine. After the chair was fashioned in this way it was cut from the ground, dried and polished until it resembled mahogany. It is 3 feet 4 inches high, 25 inches wide and weighs over 100 pounds.

"What is your favorite play?" asked the girl who quoted Shakespeare. "Well," answered the youth with long hair, "I believe I like to see a man steal second as well as anything."—Washington Star.

ADD POINT IN AUTO CASE.

Relatives of Victim Hold Motorist Who Raised Dust Partly to Blame for Accident.

Paris.—A curious point in an action against a motor car driver came before the judges of the French chamber. It was a question as to whether a chauffeur who had raised dust could be proceeded against for homicide for carelessness.

On May 1 last an automobile passed a cyclist on the road between Melun and Paris. The car raised a cloud of dust, with the result that the cyclist could not see his way. His machine swerved, and he was overtaken by another motor car, which knocked him down and killed him.

Could the driver of the first car, which had raised a cloud of dust, be held responsible for the accident caused by the second car? The case came before the Corbell court, which imposed a fine of $200 on the driver of the second car, besides compelling him to pay $600 compensation. But the driver of the car which caused the dust to fly was acquitted, and his claim for $40 for being unjustly prosecuted was allowed against the family of the cyclist who was killed. This decision was appealed against.

BODY GIVEN TO COLLEGE.

Aged Convict's Request Carried Out by Prison Authorities at Michigan City, Ind.

Michigan City, Ind.—The body of the dead life convict, James Blackwood, who was the oldest inmate of the state prison, was taken to the Valparaiso college for dissection by the medical department.

Blackwood died in the prison hospital after serving 18 years behind the prison bars. He had been here since the transfer from Jeffersonville in 1897.

As Blackwood was dying there stood beside his cot James L. Myers the murderer who was given a pardon by Gov. Hanly. Myers was found praying for the dying convict when the glad tidings of the pardon came to his ears.

Blackwood served 18 years for a murder in Clay county in 1887. All that remains of his family is a son residing in Texas. The son was notified after death, but made no reply.

The crime for which James Blackwood was sentenced occurred while a party was returning from a dance in Benwood, Clay county, to Cardonia. Blackwood quarreled with his wife in the fight which followed the woman was knocked down and sustained four broken ribs. She was wrapped in a bundle of straw and left by the roadside, where she was found in the morning. She died soon after Blackwood pleaded guilty and was sentenced by the late Judge Coffey, of Brazil.

Tapoca Jelly for Invalids

One cup of tapoca, three cups of cold water, juice of a lemon and a pinch of grated peel. Sweeten to taste. Soak the tapoca in the boiling water four hours. Set within a saucepan of boiling water, pour more lukewarm water over the tapoca if it has absorbed too much of the liquid, and heat, stirring frequently. If too thick after it begins to clear put in a little boiling water. When quite clear put in sugar and lemon. Pour into molds. Eat cold with cream flavored with rosewater and sweetened.

Compensation.

"I am sorry," said the doctor, "but your little girl will not be able to speak for several days!" "Then it will be safe," said the anxious mother, "for me to invite the minister to tea, won't it?"—Sketch.

OVERDRAFTS

It is becoming well known by business men that overdrafts, whether large or small, are not approved by the controller of the currency. The large central banks allow overdrafts only in a very small way, and this, it matters not how small, is not approved by the powers that be. This unbusinesslike habit of overdrafts grew out of advancing on moving products, such as cotton, grain and fat stock on the move. The overdraft system is wrong and the man whose account is always overdrawn is the man who spends more money than he makes and will finally have no bank account.

WHEN "HEINE" PEITZ GOT THE WORST OF IT

The recent McGinnity-Peitz battle created much discussion among the Chicago Nationals. While it was pleasing to them in a way as indicative of the irritability of the Giants under defeat, lessening their chances for recovery, they deplore the fight because of its effect on the public. Several players allowed they had been expecting Peitz would provoke some player beyond the limit for some time. Incidentally, there came to light, a verbal contest between Peitz and Manager Chance early this season on the West side, which is the only case on record in which Heine got the worst of it.

Peitz was coaching at first and began kidding Chance to rattle him. "Say, I see you're a real manager now, Frank. How did you manage it?" and other remarks of similar nature were hurled at Chance between Peitz' stereotyped bits of advice to the batter to "make it be good," "look him over," etc. Chance apparently heard none of the gibes and said nothing until he walked over toward his base while a foul was being recovered, when he looked up at Heine in feigned surprise and said: "Why, hello, Heine, are you still with the Pittsburg team? Dreyfuss was asking for waivers on you a few days ago." Peitz shut up like a clam for the rest of the day and spent his time wondering if Chance was kidding or, being a club manager, telling the truth.

Of course, the record made by Kiling does not for a moment compare with the record of the major leagues. In 1884 Dave Orr, then with the Metropolitans, put the mark at 12 total bases. Two years later, in 1886, Guy Hecker, of Louisville, and Dan Brouthers, of Detroit, raised the figures to 15: Hecker against Pitcher Dick Conway, and Brouthers against Jim McCormick. This mark stood for three years. Larry Twitchell, of Cleveland, in 1889, hoisted it a notch by hitting Mike Madden for a total of 16 bases.

For five years this was the shining mark, and then Link Lowe, of the Boston team, astonished the baseball world by making a total of 17 bases. He did this on May 30, 1894, in a game at Boston against the Cincinnati, who had Elton Chamberlain in the box. Lowe cracked out four home runs and a single. Two years later, on July 13, 1896, Ed Deleahanty duplicated the feat. He was a member of the Philadelphia team. In a game at Chicago he hit Bill Terry for four home runs and a single, giving him a total of 17 bases. This is now the world's record and bids fair to remain so for some time to come.

HOWELL'S START AS A PROFESSIONAL PITCHER

When J. C. Chapman owned and managed the Meridian Connecticut league champions, Harry Howell, the crack pitcher of the St. Louis Browns, lived in Brooklyn. He called on Manager Chapman at his residence in that city early in the spring of '98, asking for a job with the Meridian club, and said that he had been told by a number of players that Chapman was always willing to give a

BALL AND BAT NOTES

National League Notes.

Chapple McFarland has been signed by Brooklyn after playing brief engagements with St. Louis and Pittsburg.

Frank Burke, an outfielder, and James Hannigan, an infielder, of the New Haven team of the Connecticut league, will become members of the Giants at the end of the Connecticut league season.

Pat Livingstone, who was expected to add batting strength to the Reds, as well as catching vigor, is hitting way under .200.

Philadelphia fans are said to be sore at Hughie Duffy for the poor showing of the team. He has done the best he could.

Fred Henney keeps on smiting. He may surprise everyone by butting in to the .300 class as he used to.

A syndicate comprising Samuel Cohen, Eugene Devine and George Thies, St. Louis business men, have been informed that their offer of $150,000 for the St. Louis National league franchise has been refused by the owners, the Messrs. Robison.

Johnny Kling, catcher for the Cubs, has gone to Kansas City in response to a telegram announcing his father's death in that city. Kling's father was 78 years old. Kling's absence will put the entire catching end of the team up to Moran for at least a week.

Spike Shannon's contract with the New Yorks is said to call for $3,000 a year for two years.

Chicago Nationals have a new catcher, Tom Walsh. He is from Davenport, Ia.

"Batty" Abbatichio has refused to return to the game, in spite of a handsome offer by the New York Nationals. He is making good hand over fist in the hotel business.

American League News.

"Eggie" Lennox, the star third baseman of the Tri-state league, has deserted the Lancaster club and signed with the Philadelphia Athletics.

Koehler has covered every position in the St. Louis American's infield. His regular place is in the outfield.

Thomas, Griffith's reserve catcher, seems to be a terrible slugger. In the few games he has so far played he has batted nearly .400.

Harry Davis is not hitting as hard as he did earlier in the season and is just at the .300 mark.

Coombs seems to be quite a pitcher. At least he keeps on winning games.

Willie Keeler is soaking valiantly and bids fair to dispute the batting lead of his league with Stone and Lajoie.

Chase is back in harness and the Highlanders are playing correspondingly strong ball.

Clark Griffith, manager of the Highlanders, is after Pitcher Fred Glade of the St. Louis Browns, and is willing to give Jimmy Williams or Joe Yeager in exchange.

President Charles A. Comiskey of the White Sox announced that he had signed Pitcher Buck Freeman of the Evansville Central league team for next season. Freeman has been doing great work this year, and Jimmy Ryan told Comiskey that he was a coming wonder, and Cominy went after him. Last season Freeman won 17 and lost 10 games. He batted .202 and fielded .932 in 35 games.

Among the Minors.

Robert L. Caruthers, known to the bleachers only as "Bobby," is occupying the calcium light nearly as much as an umpire as he did when starring as one of the strongest slab artists of the St. Louis Browns. He alone of the staff of "Three-Eye" umpires who reported for duty at the first of the season is still handling the indicator. His ability to keep a game moving from start to finish is one of his strongest characteristics.

Hardy, the Washington castoff, is pitching good ball for the Providence club.

Cleveland offered President Coleman $3,000 for Pitcher Liebhart, but failed to land the Memphis wonder.

"Jimmy" Barrett leads the Rochester team in batting, with .324 in ten games.

The Providence club has signed third baseman Storke, of the Amherst college team.

PLAYS AND PLAYERS

FORTUNES OF STAGE STARS.

Some interesting facts concerning the relation between stage fame and wealth have been brought forward by an English observer. Probate of the will of the late Henry Irving, recently granted to his two sons, caused the investigation to be made. The gross value of the Irving estate was found to be only $102,800.

The size of the Irving fortune, or, rather, its lack of size, caused very general comment for it was presumed, of course, that the famous English actor had amassed a great estate. What is true in this most recent case, however, has been similarly true of other actors. Although they have received large incomes, seldom at their death have they left large fortunes. They spend money generously, even lavishly, and usually give whenever they are asked to the cause of various charities. It seems, moreover, that it is the custom in the theatrical profession to declare that an actor receives much more than he actually does. This in itself causes him to spend recklessly, for if he would not be considered niggardly he must live up to what the general public believes his income to be.

Among the fortunes left by members of the theatrical profession have been those of:

|   |           |
|---|-----------|
| Wilson Barrett, aged 57, left $2,000 for charities   | $150,000 |
| Lady Martin (Helena Faucit), aged 82  | 135,000   |
| Edwin Booth, aged 59  | 120,000   |
| Sir Augustus Harris, aged 44  | 115,000   |
| William James Lewis (William Terris), aged 59   | 65,000    |
| Frederick Hobson (Fred Leslie), aged 37   | 50,000    |
| George Wild Galvin (Dan Leno), aged 46; said to have earned $150 a week and probably did earn for some time $100 a week | 50,000    |
| Herbert Edward Storey (Herbert Campbell), aged 61   | 20,000    |
| William Rignold, aged 68  | 20,000    |
| Mme. Goldschmidt (Jenny Lind), aged 67  | 200,000   |
| Ernest Dinaud (Ernesto Nicollino), aged 52, the famous operatic tenor singer  | 200,000   |
| Richard Corney Grain, aged 50   | 20,000    |
| Frederick Burgess, aged 67 (Moore and Burgess' minstrels)   | 50,000    |
| Frederick Charles Hengler, aged 67, circus proprietor   | 250,000   |
| Frederick Ginet, aged 67, circus proprietor   | 100,000   |
| Frederick William Sanger, circus proprietor   | 50,000    |

The estate of Richard d'Oyly Carte, aged 58, of the Savoy theater, was sworn for probate at $1,200,000, probably the largest sum ever left by a public entertainer.

THE ART OF MIMICRY.

Elsie Janis Says It is a Gift Which Needs Much Cultivation.

"It isn't easy to become a successful mimic. It is far less easy to tell how to be one," says Elsie Janis, who is starring in the "Vanderbilt Cup."

"Many people have an idea that mimicry is a gift, that no training is required for it, and that if a man or woman can exaggerate the conspicuous walk or speech or mannerism of some friend he or she is a full-fledged mimic and open for a vaudeville engagement.

"Nothing could be farther from the truth. Mimicry valuable enough to be used professionally is a gift, it is true, but it is a gift which must be discovered early in childhood and cultivated assiduously, with unremitting practice to make it of any use to the owner.

"There is nothing living in the world that is not a conscious or unconscious mimic. Insects, butterflies, snakes, birds and many animals change their color or shape to resemble other objects in order to protect themselves from attack. Parrots and monkeys are notorious mimics, while all the training of trick animals is simply the development of their power of mimicry.

"The training of a human being from its infancy to its grave is founded upon this power. Why do you wear shirtwaists buttoned in the back one week and Peter Pans the next, or change your coiffure from pompadour to part and collar again? Because you wish to mimic other people.

"The successful professional mimic must have flexible facial muscles and have perfect control of the muscles of the throat and vocal organs. These things can only be acquired when the muscles are undeveloped and soft. Therefore the successful mimic must begin training early in childhood.

"The mimic is pre-eminently a maker of faces. So if you have a small girl who persists in making faces, to your great mortification, do not discourage her until you have studied her carefully and decided whether or not she has powers of mimicry that may make her livelihood.

"To strike the personal note, which I know is pardonable, this is the way I began to be a mimic. I never can remember the time when I didn't make faces, but I can remember quite distinctly the scoldings I used to get for doing so when I was a little child. Finally a good angel in the shape of a family friend advised that I be allowed to follow my propensity for face making and mimicking people; and then I was happy. From that time to this I have never stopped practicing.

"My favorite imitation? Really, do you want to know that? Well, although I am awfully fond of the whole 55, I think Ethel Barrymore is my favorite. She has so many quaint and delicious little mannerisms that I never cease enjoying their depiction.

HAS HIS MANAGER PICKED.

Eddie Foy and His Play Were First Considerations.

Eddie Foy strolled up the Great White Way in a jubilant frame of mind the other day.

"Hello, Eddie," a friend said, saluting him. "Why so debonaire?"

"I'm going to star next season, that's all. The piece is a musical comedy just copyrighted and it's written by an actor, John D. Gilbert, and it's called 'The Wild and Woolly Way.'"

"My name in the play is a regular appetite breaker, Plankington Shadd. He's an actor man who turns up in a new western country like Oklahoma on the day when the legislature meets for the first time.

"Those first time legislators have been having a blowup and they've killed all the editors in town—seven of them. There has to be an editor, so they make one out of Mr. Plankington Shadd.

"There's where the complications come in. Can you see me as an editor? It's great!"

"And who is going to manage you?" Mr. Foy was asked.

"Oh, I ain't bothering about managers," was Eddie's answer. "I've got that fixed all right."

And Mr. Foy marched off jubilant.

WHEN YOU'RE CANNING BERRIES

Proportions to Use—The Cooking and Filling of the Bottles.

Allow three pints of fruit for the filling of one quart jar. Look over the berries carefully, and if any imperfect ones appear, do not hesitate to throw them to one side. Into your porcelain kettle put one cupful of white sugar and just enough water to start the berries cooking, and as soon as the sugar is melted, add your berries. Cover, and watch carefully, and as soon as they reach the boiling point remove the kettle from the fire, filling the jar to within one-eighth of an inch of the top, filling this space with berries dipped from the juice. Wipe all juice from the top of the can, adjust the rubber (it is well to put the rubber on before filling) and screw on the lid as tight as possible. Invert the can and let remain thus for a few minutes; examine, and if any should be found leaking around the lid, take a small hammer or knife-handle and pound all around the edge of the lid, especially pounding down where the leak appears, taking pains to have the striking done on the lid and rubber alone. Repeat this, until no leak appears, then let the jars stand, inverted, until perfectly cool, advises a writer in the home department of The Commoner. If the jar continues to leak, open, empty the contents, reheat, and try another lid; or it may be the rubber that is at fault, but generally, the lid is ill-fitting. Wrap the cans in thick paper when putting them away, as the light affects the color of some fruits, and spoils the flavor of others.

One of the very best helps in canning time is a steam cooker; or an old-fashioned steamer is just as good. The jars may be filled with the uncooked fruit, the top put on loosely and steamed until hot through, filling part of the jars with the contents of others, as the berries settle down when heated. The same care must be taken to have the fruit "boiling hot" in the jar as when canning by cooking it in a kettle. It keeps its "looks" much better when canned by steam, and does not so much as lose its shape. When cooked thus, no water is added to the fruit when the jar is filled—the fruit, aided by the steam, will make its own juice. The water under the steamer or in the cooker must be boiling briskly when the jars are set in, and it must not be allowed to cease from boiling while the jars are inside. It is the steam which cooks, and there must be plenty of it.

ABOUT GLASS IN THE BATHROOM

Glass Appointments Are Not Necessarily Expensive and Are Ideal.

Many a bathroom is fitted out with glass appointments—shelves and racks (the long bars held in place by trimmings of nickel), soap cups and the "little fixings," all of glass. Even the wooden window sills in an occasional bathroom are removed and a heavy glass shelf substituted, says the Chicago Chronicle.

Fortunately, glass of the quality used for such purposes is not necessarily expensive, although, as in everything else, the question of how much it shall cost really depends upon the individual buyer.

Bowls and cooking spoons of glass—heavy, but almost unbreakable with ordinary handling—are so satisfactory, by virtue of their cleanliness, that the woman who tries either or both instantly becomes a convert to their use. Perhaps the most unusual glass-made piece of all is a rolling-pin, hollow, and so made that it can be opened and the hollow filled with cracked ice, when working with pastry, which must be kept well chilled, even during the rolling process.

Great slabs of glass make the best sort of pie and bread boards.

To Clean Matting.

To clean matting it should be first swept thoroughly with a stiff broom, following the grain of the straw, then swept across the grain with a soft broom that has been dipped in warm water in which a handful of salt has been dissolved. Nothing brightens colored matting so much as the salt and, moreover, it goes far to prevent it fading. The light-colored matting should be washed in water in which borax has been dissolved. If any grease spots are noticed before the matting is cleaned cover them with a mixture of prepared chalk wet with turpentine, which, after being allowed to remain on for two days, should be removed with a stiff brush. In the event of the grease having sunk in about one-eighth of washing soda added to the mixture will be effectual. Sweet milk is said to keep the matting in a good state of preservation and it is only necessary to use the application about once a year.

To Shrink Linen.

For shrinking linen the following instructions have been found to be very satisfactory: First, after a bathtub has been carefully dished fill it about quarter full with clear cold water. It should be first filtered if it is at all dark or cloudy. Then, leaving the linen in its folds, wrap it in a clean towel and allow it to remain in the water over night. When taken out in the morning do not wring the water from it, but leaving it still folded hang it up dripping. It will take some time to dry, but the material will be thoroughly shrunken and will not need to be pressed.

So Rugs Won't Curl.

Strips of stiff buckram sewed along the edges of rugs will prevent them curling up.

To Keep Away Rust.

A good blacking will protect the heating stoves from summer dampness, which so quickly generates rust.
